POLITICAL BUSTLE

E-Day Call Tonight

Strachan Has Doubts

By FRANK BUTTER

The signs all point to Kelowna today, and Premier Bennett's "E Day."

Last minute Social Credit nominations added to the bustle about provincial politics which flared after the premier's election hints in Vancouver Monday.

Today he just about clinched that he will announce his election in Kelowna tonight.

"I will have an important announcement to make tonight," he said in Kelowna.

The date—which Mr. Bennett may withhold—is expected to be on or near Sept. 19.

The lone dissenter in the election atmosphere here which is pervading the capital today is Opposition leader Robert Strachan.

"I don't think he will, and I don't think he should announce the date tonight," said the CCF leader.

"SO ARROGANT"
"I can't believe that any premier of this province would be so arrogant as to make the announcement at a political meeting."

The premier will be nominated tonight for his South Okanagan constituency of which Kelowna is the "capital."

This afternoon he and Mrs. Bennett are hosting a giant garden party at their Kelowna home.

Mrs. Bennett told the Times she expected as many as 1,000 guests.

"I haven't got it," she answered when quizzed about the election date.

LAST TO KNOW
"I am the last person to know. That's the way I want it, too. Then I don't have to tell any fibs."

With the premier in Kelowna are three of his cabinet "old guard"—Attorney-General Robert Bonner, Highways Minister Phil Gagliardi and Works Minister W. N. Chant.

Others are expected tonight. Only two cabinet ministers were in Victoria—Forests Minister Williston and Recreation Minister Westwood.

Adding fuel to the election fire today was disclosure of a "secret" cabinet meeting here Monday.

Only four members were present.

One of them had told the Times there was no meeting. But a routine signed order-in-council appeared out of that meeting today.

Another order about the election could be in someone's pocket.

Two top Social Credit nominees Tuesday night were Labor Minister Lyle Wicks in Dewdney and Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan in Chilliwack.

So far the Social Credit party has put 28 candidates in the field. The Liberals have an equal number, the CCF 41 and the Conservatives 45.

Polling date must be at least 38 days after the election writ is issued.

Highways Minister Gagliardi predicted at Mr. Wicks' nomination convention in Hanes that the forthcoming campaign would be "dirty."

He warned Social Crediters to expect the most vindictive criticism the party has ever faced.

He said the criticism would come from labor leaders, but didn't elaborate.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

O Lord, Who hast given us eyes to see and a mind to know, grant us grace to learn the secrets of this marvelous universe. Save us from the temptations that blind us to Thy presence. Open our ears to hear Thy voice speaking to us, for Thou art more wonderful than Thy works and the source of all our truth; in Christ's name. Amen.

QUEBEC A-G TO PROBE 'VOTE SELLING'

'They'll Have to Fight Their Way In'

UN Troops Threatened By Leader of Katanga

Will Move In On Saturday

ELISABETHVILLE, The Congo (AP)—Katanga's Premier Moise Tshombe said today his government would use force to oppose the entry into his rich mining province of United Nations troops, scheduled to begin Saturday.

"They will have to fight their way in," Tshombe told newspaper men after hearing a broadcast of UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld's announcement that UN forces would take over from Belgian troops keeping order in the rich mining province in the southeast Congo.

Tshombe said his government has ordered mobilization of all able-bodied men in the province. He said he has support of tribal chiefs in the decision to oppose entry of UN troops.

In Leopoldville, a UN spokesman declared the troops will enter Katanga regardless of the provincial regime's stand.

"Katanga troops will not fire first, and we do not intend any aggression," said Tshombe, whose government has declared Katanga's independence of Premier Patrice Lumumba's central Congo government.

"But if UN troops try to land here, that will be an act of aggression and we will oppose it."

The premier said he had not been officially informed of the decision to send UN troops to Katanga, announced in Leopoldville Tuesday night by

'WE'LL FIGHT TO FINISH'

TUNIS, Tunisia (UPI) — Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba flew into Tunisia today and announced, "we will fight to the last drop of our blood" to preserve the territorial integrity of his country.

Lumumba made the statement on his arrival from London, en route back to the Congo from the United States. He repeated attacks on Belgium, accusing it of "barbaric aggression," and demanded "immediate withdrawal of Belgian troops from the Congo."

Hammarskjöld after the Belgian government agreed to pull its troops in Katanga back to their base camp. Tshombe said he also had no notification from the Belgians of their change of heart.

However, Tshombe said he would welcome the arrival of UN undersecretary Ralph J. Bunche, being sent by Hammarskjöld to Elisabethville Friday to arrange the entry of the UN troops. The premier said he wanted to discuss his government's position with Bunche.

'Would Have to Kill Every Soldier'

In Paris, Finance Minister Jean Kibwe, who is heading a delegation to gain support for Katanga's independence, asserted Tuesday that if UN troops entered the seceded province it would be "a declaration of war and the UN troops would have to kill every soldier in Katanga."

The UN announcement stunned the white population of Elisabethville, which had returned to normal pursuits under the protection of the Belgian troops. But despite earlier talk of a mass flight when UN troops were ordered in, there was no sign today of any exodus.

"It seems most of them will wait to see what happens when UN troops arrive," a Belgian official said.

It seemed possible the whites might stay if the UN sent white troops to Katanga. But the arrival of non-white troops would cause great consternation.

Mass departure of the 15,000 Belgian civilians in Katanga would bring a quick shutdown of the province's copper and uranium mines, the Congo's economic mainstay, and would bring Katanga to the state of economic paralysis now afflicting the rest of the country.

In Brussels, Belgian Foreign Minister Pierre Wigny said Belgium would take "no sides" in the dispute over Katanga.

The problem must be settled by the Congolese themselves, he said in a country-wide radio hookup. "Belgium refuses to interfere with internal matters."

Should Be in Control by Next Week

Hammarskjöld predicted that by the beginning of next week, or about two weeks after the security council's second call for Belgian withdrawal, UN troops would be "in control of the security of the whole territory of the Congo."

He reported that the UN now has more than 11,000 troops in the Congo, deployed throughout the vast territory with the exception of Katanga.

"All Belgian troops have been withdrawn from all regions of the territory where troops of the United Nations are stationed," he said.

A difference of opinion was reported on the racial makeup of the force to be sent to Katanga. Congolese Justice Minister Remey Mwamba said the UN command wanted to send in white troops—presumably the Irish battalion on duty in Kivu province. Mwamba indicated his government wants Negro troops.

Hammarskjöld postponed his departure for South Africa

a second time. He had been scheduled to leave today. His new departure date was uncertain.

Congolese Premier Lumumba headed back by Russian airliner from his aid-seeking mission to the United States and Canada. En route home he planned stops in Tunisia, Morocco, Guinea, Liberia and Ghana.

Pausing in London Lumumba accused the Brussels government of encouraging Katanga to break away from the Congo.

"They are trying to use Mr. Tshombe and his colleagues as a mere instrument to continue the positions they occupied previously in the Congo," he told reporters.

Belgium Tuesday began flying home 1,500 troops from the Kamaina base, which is in Katanga. Completion of the movement will leave about 8,500 Belgian soldiers in the Congo. The Belgian government indicated again Tuesday night it would bring these home when UN forces could assure order in the Congo.

HUMIDITY RISES

Fire Threat Easing Off

Lightning in the Kamloops district today is the major forest fire threat, but the hazard is easing in other parts of the province.

In the Nelson district, rain fell for the second day Tuesday, reducing the hazard to "moderate," the forest service said.

The hazard remains "high to extreme" in the Vancouver Island and coastal mainland district, but overcast skies and high relative humidity have eased the general situation. Only three small new fires were reported overnight.

21 FIRES

There are 21 fires burning in the district.

In the last three days lightning is blamed for 32 Kamloops district blazes.

There were 40 new ones overnight.

The three big ones, all over 10,000 acres, at Lac le Jeune, Allan Creek and Spius Creek, are all moderately under control, says the forest service.

About 470 fires were burning in B.C. forests Tuesday. They were being battled by upwards of 4,500 men, 246 bulldozers and 27 aircraft at a cost of $120,000 a day—not including the loss of millions of dollars worth of fir, spruce, white and jack pine and cedar.

A plea for more equipment for the Prince George district, free of "major fires until lightning struck a couple of days ago, was answered Tuesday and four additional aircraft were put into action against fires in the northeast today.

BILL OF RIGHTS

Social Security Amendment Out

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons by a 60-19 vote today defeated a Liberal amendment to the Bill of Rights which would have declared every Canadian has an inalienable right to social security benefits.

Opposition leader Pearson and Paul Martin (L., Essex East) quoted Prime Minister Diefenbaker as saying in 1947 that a Bill of Rights should ensure "educational, property and social security rights," but these were not in the bill now before Parliament.

Mr. Diefenbaker said that in 1947 he spoke of these subjects to be included in a draft bill which he suggested should be referred to the Supreme Court for a decision of constitutionality.

They clearly involved provincial rights, and the government now is only proposing a Bill of Rights in the federal field of jurisdiction as a first step, he said.

MARGIN STILL GROWING

The Ladies Live Longer

OTTAWA (CP) — Females have a 5.3-year edge over males in life expectancy at birth, the bureau of statistics reported today in a survey based on deaths registered in Canada.

The male has a life expectancy of 67.6 years compared to his mate's 72.9 years. Although female life expectancy has been consistently higher the margin has widened from 2.1 years in 1931 to 5.3 in 1956.

Improvement of the life expectancy is based mainly on the reduction of the mortality rate among children and adolescents from infectious diseases.

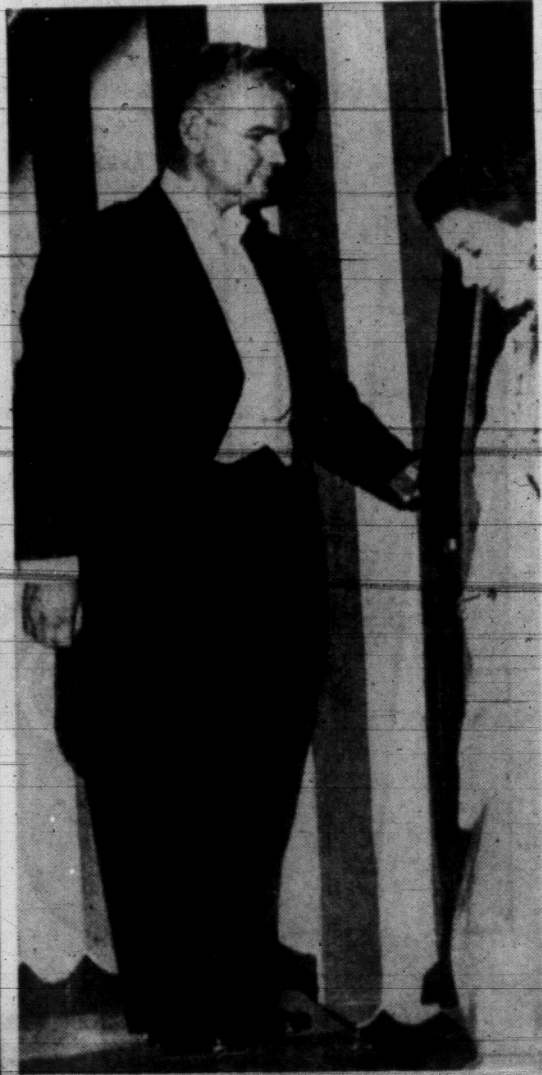

The report said that future improvement in life expectancy will lessen in comparison with the last 25 years because diseases associated with middle and old age are more difficult to control.

Quits After Month

DID TONY SCRAP WITH THE BUTLER?

LONDON (Reuters) — Princess Margaret's butler has left after only a month in her service. There were hints today that he had a row with Antony Armstrong-Jones, the princess' husband.

The butler, silver-haired Thomas Cronin, moved out of Kensington Palace, Margaret's London home, Tuesday. Newspapers and observers of royal society immediately started guessing about the reason for his departure but no one was saying anything, least of all Cronin himself.

Asked if he had a row with Armstrong-Jones, Cronin said: "I must say 'no comment.' You do understand my position."

Cronin appeared stunned that reporters had heard of his departure and tracked him down in his room at Notting Hill, a district near Kensington Palace.

"It is quite unfortunate that my move should be known," he said. "I would much prefer, and I am sure the palace likewise, that this should pass quietly. Whatever, if anything, the palace says, I am sure it will be accurate. Only in extreme circumstances would I contradict it."

"I can say it has been a delightful privilege to serve Her Royal Highness. She is very gracious and I am extremely proud to have been of service."

Cronin said: "I have been a good butler for 30 years. I do not anticipate difficulty in obtaining another post."

OTTAWA (UPI) — Transport Minister George Hees today ordered all civilian aircraft to keep out of Canadian airspace from 2 a.m. to 8 a.m. EDT Sept. 10 to make way for a NORAD exercise.

Hees said in a prepared statement he hoped air carriers and the travelling public will appreciate the necessity for safety measures during the defense exercise and will co-operate in rearranging their schedules.

NORAD is the organization entrusted with the task of repelling any attack by hostile bombers.

TWO-PRONGED PROBE IN OTTAWA

CHEK President Answers TV Complaints

CHEK-TV president David Armstrong denied today his station has increased its soliciting of advertising in the Vancouver market since it was granted a power increase and switch in location of its transmitter to Saturna Island.

The point was raised in Ottawa where both the Board of Broadcast Governors and the Department of Transport have been ordered to investigate complaints of Vancouver viewers that CHEK is interfering there with three U.S. TV channels.

"We are living strictly within our commitments," Mr. Armstrong said in a statement today.

Some members of Parliament from the Vancouver area have told the B.B.G. that CHEK we always have been by

Scharf Broadcast Sales. "These representatives try to line up for us advertising from all department stores, supermarkets and multiple businesses who do business on Vancouver Island, that is regional business."

"We are in no sense invading Vancouver but only canvassing for that which is legitimately ours."

At the same time local viewers noted that CHEK-TV is now using the slogan, "Serving British Columbia from the Capital City."

Dr. Stewart told the Times the board has no plans for a review of the power boost recently awarded CHEK when the station moved its transmitting equipment to Saturna Island.

Meanwhile, the department of transport has begun a probe of CHEK's "invasion" of the Vancouver viewing area with its signal.

DOT experts have been ordered to find out if CHEK's technical installations are in accord with the technical plans submitted for approval.

MP's and viewers have been protesting the CHEK power boost. They claim it interferes with Seattle channels, four, five and seven.

This morning, Dr. Stewart had 10 letters of protest. He said this might not be a true indication "of the degree of agitation."

The B.B.G.'s view appears to be that Vancouver viewers should be happy they have an other Canadian channel to watch, no matter what happens to their reception of U.S. channels.

Dr. Stewart said there are very few channels available to Canadian stations, and the B.B.G. feels the maximum use must be made of those channels. If Canadians would "think about it," he said, they would agree that is the proper approach, even if it means they can watch fewer U.S. stations.

DOT officials said it is possible Vancouver viewers can minimize the interference with U.S. channels through a set adjustment. They said newer sets have finer tuning, and can pick out the desired station in a crowded band. Older sets could do the same, they said, with adjustment.

'LONGING FOR FREEDOM' MADE JET PILOT DEFECT

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — A 24-year-old North Korean airman defected to South Korea today in a MiG-15 jet fighter.

It was the third aerial defection to South Korea by members of the North Korean Air Force.

'Right to a Job' Bid by CCF Defeated

(From Times News Service)

OTTAWA—The weight of the government majority Tuesday knocked out a CCF bid—backed by the Liberals—to have the right of employment written into the bill of rights.

CCF House leader Hazen Argue saw his motion defeated by a vote of 61 to 17, with 15 Liberals supporting two CCF members.

The motion, made during clause-by-clause study of the bill, was rejected by Justice Minister Fulton. He said it would change the "general" bill of rights to a bill of particulars—even make it so long and wordy that school children wouldn't be able to memorize it easily.

Mr. Argue sought an amendment to Clause One of the bill to give Canadians "the right to have a job if one is willing to work."

"That kind of opportunity is not available to many Canadians today," he said, referring to unemployment.

Mr. Argue contended the bill did not include a statement of economic rights because the "Tory party does not want it to be included."

Already Included in UN Declaration

But Mr. Fulton argued that they were already endorsed in Canada's acceptance of the United Nations Declaration of Human Rights. In addition, said the justice minister, they were largely in the realm of provincial—not federal—competence.

The Liberals launched a string of amendments, similar to ones they moved unsuccessfully in the special committee that studied the bill, each one going down to defeat before the majority of government supporters.

After Paul Martin (L-Exeter East) indicated his party's support for the amendment, Prime Minister Diefenbaker asked why the former Liberal government hadn't sought parliamentary approval of the 1949 United Nations Declaration of Human Rights.

Without waiting for an answer, Mr. Diefenbaker suggested it was because the Liberal government felt the economic rights in the UN declaration—such as right to employment—were within the jurisdiction of the provinces and not Parliament.

Mr. Diefenbaker also twitted the opposition over past resistance to a bill of rights.

Between 1946 and 1957, he said, never at any time had a single member of the Liberal cabinet of those days supported such a measure, although individual members of the Liberal party had backed the idea.

Mr. Diefenbaker also said he hopes that when agreement is reached with the provinces on a method of amending the constitution in Canada the first step will be a national bill of rights applying to both federal and provincial jurisdiction.

Higher Pensions for MPs Urged

A strong plea for higher pensions for members of the House of Commons was made in the Senate by Opposition Leader W. Ross Macdonald and Senator T. D'Arcy Leonard (L. Ontario).

Senator Macdonald said the maximum annual pension of $3,000 for Commons members is inadequate, ungenerous, meagre, scanty and unrealistic.

Senator Leonard said it is unjustifiably low and should be substantially increased.

The two senators made their plea shortly before the Upper House gave second reading, approved in principle to a government bill to increase pensions received by judges.

Senator Leonard said that under the bill a judge's annual pension will be $11,266, or two-thirds of his present salary. On the death of a judge, his widow would receive $3,750 a year for the rest of her life.

The maximum pension paid to a member of the Commons was $3,000 annually. To be eligible a member must make a contribution of $4,000 into a pension fund and serve in the Commons for 16½ years.

legislature now could obtain an annual pension of $5,000.

Liberal senators ripped into the government's proposed anti-combines amendments Tuesday night, describing them as good in parts but highly "malodorous" in others.

Senator A. K. Hugesen (L. Quebec) said sections of the bill designed to discourage loss-leader selling will hurt consumers, and Senator Salter Hayden (L. Ontario) described them as meaningless "window dressing."

They spoke as the Senate gave second reading to the government bill and sent it to its banking and commerce committee. The committee meets today.

DIP INTO SURPLUS AVERTED

B.C. Revenues Underestimated By $20 Million

Revenue totalling almost $20 million more than estimates by Premier Bennett averted a dip into surplus funds for the fiscal year ended March 31.

An interim report from the finance department Tuesday—what some observers called the "trappings of an election-booster"—showed that Mr. Bennett underestimated his 1959-60 revenues by $19,590,827.

He under-estimated spending by only $1,817,520.

INTO GOVERNMENT FUND

The result was a surplus of $5,137,336 and it meant that $12,600,000 earmarked to avert a deficit was returned to the general surplus fund, which now totals $26,909,920, and is plowed into next year's estimates.

Revenues totalled $307,366,230; they were $289,000,000 in the 1958-59 fiscal year. Expenditures totalled $302,218,914; they were $280,475,313 in 1958-59. Only hospitals received less than in the previous year.

FIRST IN DETAIL

The report is the first to go into such detail. It publishes much of the information usually withheld until the public accounts are released when the year's legislative session opens in January.

This year, referring to an eight-year "epoch," the interim report contains maps, history and reams of tables.

ROADS ON TOP

Top price tag for 1959-60 was highways, which received $58,392,428, almost $10 million more than the previous year.

Next biggest slice went on school grants, $30,585,724, up just over $5 million.

Hospital grants and insurance took another $27,924,166.

Million Dollar 'Goof'

Somebody "goofed" to the tune of a million dollars in the province's new finance review.

A special statement of accounts released Tuesday by the finance department showed B.C. and Premier Bennett's budgeting $1 million poorer.

The error came in adding the estimated revenue for the 1960-61 fiscal year to the revenue surplus fund of $26,909,920.

Violence In Strike

TORONTO (CP)—Violence erupted Tuesday in a strike of immigrant construction workers which may cripple Toronto's $30,000,000 house and apartment construction industry.

Eighty-eight carloads of workers fanned out through Toronto trying to persuade other non-union workers to leave their jobs.

Police mobilized all available cruisers to head off conflicts between pickets and non-strikers. They broke up disturbances at six suburban building projects.

The walkout is an attempt by many of the city's 25,000 immigrant workers, mostly Italians, to gain union membership, a 40-hour week, higher pay and adequate safety.

NIXON PLANE BOMB HOAX

WASHINGTON (AP)—FBI made a stop at Reno Tuesday before departure for Los Angeles.

FBI director J. Edgar Hoover today disclosed that, shortly before the Reno takeoff, a man approached flight personnel and said: "Your airplane is not going out today. I just put a bomb on it."

The man then drove from the airport in a cab.

The takeoff was delayed slightly to permit a thorough search of the plane and luggage, which disclosed no bomb.

Hoover said FBI agents traced the bomb scare to Leonard Dale Sage, 34, who was taken into custody at his home in Reno this morning.

Still in the Red

THE LATEST FIGURES, showing a substantial advance in Canada's commodity exports during the first half of this year, are good news for everybody. But they are by no means the whole story.

In the first place, though our exports have been rising, so has our need for them. A growing population, vastly expanded export industries and an unemployment problem in areas mainly dependent on exports all mean that we cannot be satisfied with our present trade, even if it has risen. We require far more business abroad than we are getting.

Secondly, commodity exports—or the "visibles" as the economists call them—represent only one aspect of our trade. The other, called the "invisibles," is the movement of money, not goods, the import of foreign investment, the accumulation of foreign debt, the cost of interest payments, dividends, tourist travel and the rest.

So far as we have seen, the figures for the first half of 1960 cover only commodity trade, in which our recent deficits have substantially declined since the same period a year ago. But when the invisibles are calculated undoubtedly we shall see that the overall deficit, the total strain on our resources, is still appallingly high.

Taking all factors into consideration, we sell, in total, much less than we buy from the world. As Mr. James Coyne, governor of the Bank of Canada, puts it, we continue to live far beyond our means by borrowing foreign money.

Last year Canada's total deficit in all international transactions, visible and invisible, reached the figure of $1.4 billion, probably the highest deficit accumulated, on a population basis, by any nation in the world.

The United States' deficit, for example, was under $4 billion, though its population was ten times as great as ours and its per capita wealth still higher. Yet the United States Government was shocked and is determined to cut down this year's deficit mainly by increasing exports.

Mr. Coyne's annual report predicted that the Canadian deficit this year would be higher than ever and he saw no sign of its decrease for years to come. He may turn out to be wrong in his detailed forecast, but not wrong in his general estimate of our direction. It still moves deeply into the red. Increasing commodity exports are far from sufficient to balance our heavy foreign borrowings, governmental and private.

There are two ways out of this dilemma, which Mr. Coyne regards as ultimately very dangerous—the wrong way and the right way.

The wrong way is to restrict commodity imports, at the inevitable cost of inviting our customers' retaliation and restricting our exports.

The right way is to hold down our costs and prices, improve the quality of our goods and increase our commodity exports while at the same time moderating our demand for imports of money.

No one need expect an early balance in our total foreign transactions, nor is it necessary in a country which can wisely use foreign capital, if it is imported for productive enterprise, but the present deficit is too large. It simply means that we are going further into foreign debt and therefore must use more and more of our production to pay the interest charges, the inevitable cost of debt.

Taxes Aren't Venture Capital

A VERY LARGE NUMBER OF our citizens like hockey. So does Mayor Percy Scurrell.

But civic Victoria would be embarking on a very questionable precedent if it entered an agreement with hockey interests to share promotional and administrative responsibilities for a professional team.

Mayor Scurrell is on sound ground when he makes that point.

"If we go into hockey," he asks, "why shouldn't we go into professional baseball or lacrosse? It just seems to me that isn't a civic function—not when you're dealing with public money."

Very properly the mayor is keeping an open mind on the matter until he is more conversant with the details. His initial reaction, however, will be shared by most Victorians familiar with the duties of a city council.

The proposed arrangement might make money for the city. There are several other undertakings—entailing entry into fields now occupied by private business—which also might make money. But they are not the areas into which a council is supposed to go.

It is a fact that Victoria has an arena from which it must derive revenue to meet the financing costs of original construction, maintenance and operation. It is part of the duty of the commission established by the council to try to increase such funds. But it is not the duty of the mayor and aldermen to become partners in a professional promotion in the realm of sport. Promotions, no matter how promising they may seem, can fail. Failure, in this instance, would leave council members in the unenviable position of losing taxpayers' money.

Professional hockey is a substantial asset to this community from an entertainment point of view, if nothing else. So are other bona fide entertainment forms. But most of them—at least those privately operated for profit—represent expenditures in venture capital for which a return is sought from ticket-buying patrons.

Civic funds are scarcely to be classed as venture capital.

Mayor Scurrell's instinct in this matter is right.

Another Horse Accident

ANOTHER VICTORIAN HAS been taken to hospital with injuries inflicted by a horse. The young lady in question was struck either by the animal or the sawhorse to which it was tethered and which it dragged helter-skelter when it bolted.

What caused the horse to start its frightened rush is not stated in the news columns, but it is obvious that the sawhorse was completely inadequate as a hitching rail.

Public sympathy will naturally be extended to the young woman. At the same time attention must be drawn to previous warnings concerning horses and the dangers they represent to a modern generation not so well schooled as those of an earlier day in handling the animals.

Westward to the East

THIS MONTH TRADE MINISTER Mitsuhiro Ishii will leave Tokyo to open a big Japanese trade fair in Moscow. At about the same time Central Committee member Liu Ning-i will head a Communist China labor delegation to Tokyo.

These are significant events in the land on which the United States counts heavily for defensive strength in the event of armed conflict with Russia or Red China.

They do not, in themselves, indicate any retreat by Premier Hayato Ikeda from his avowed decision to remain in the Western camp. They do, on the other hand, indicate a form of external pressure which will be applied on the United States' China policy.

Reports from Tokyo suggest that Japanese leaders expect a change in attitude on the part of the United States administration after November, no matter who wins. They believe that the position on Red China will be softened. Some would anticipate such a reaction now by adopting an independent policy toward Red China, hoping it might encourage a less adamant attitude on Washington's part toward Peking.

Mr. Ikeda has indicated no such independent action at this time. But he sees Red China and Russia as facts of life which cannot be ignored. He appreciates, also, the impact of geography and the potential of trade. He has pledged an improvement in the Japanese living standard—which has risen substantially in recent years. And, to a country which depends so heavily on exports, he is in no position to reject the possibility of markets across a relatively narrow stretch of salt water from his homeland.

The new trend in Japan presents awkward considerations for the U.S.

ANIMALS AROUND US

'Like a Thunderbolt He Falls'

BY strictest definition robins and chickadees are "birds of prey" since they feed upon living insects, worms and similar creatures but ordinarily this term is reserved for owls, hawks, falcons, eagles and others that capture small birds and mammals for food. It is an interesting distinction. Why should predators of vertebrates be assigned to a special category?

In any event the so-called predatory birds are of several diverse groups, but as in the case of the water birds they have certain features in common. All have strong and sometimes swift flight designed for quick pursuit or great lifting power. All have well-developed talons for catching and killing prey and all have curved or hooked beaks for tearing flesh.

Birds of prey must be extremely alert and quick-acting or they go hungry. It is not surprising then to find that certain sense organs are highly developed. This is especially true of the eye.

Bright-Eyed

In all birds vision is fairly acute since their life depends on this faculty to a major extent and in the predators the eye reaches its highest efficiency. Not only is it large but it is also placed on the head so that the bird has an unusually wide field of vision being able to pinpoint objects directly in front and at the same time to see objects approaching from the rear.

In owls, rearward vision is sacrificed for more accurate forward vision, the eyes being placed on the front of the face much as in a human. This presumably permits a more precise judgment of distance, obviously of great value to a bird working in the dark.

Most birds have what is commonly called "a third eyelid" or nictitating membrane, a transparent, covering which sweeps over the ball of the eye under certain conditions. It serves several functions: it removes dust and other foreign material from the surface of the eye; it keeps the eye moist and it protects the surface against injury when a bird is flying through foliage or making a landing in a tree.

'Shutter' Drops

High speed photography has shown that during the split second immediately before striking prey or alighting on a limb this protective device drops into place automatically. Being transparent it apparently does not interfere with vision at this critical time.

The sense of hearing is also extremely acute especially in owls. In these birds the ears are extra large and so placed on the side of the head that the owner can quickly determine the direction of the sound by rotating the head to balance the strength of the signal in each ear. Moreover, the range of sound audible to owls is on the high side so that mouse squeakings and bird twitters are easily picked up.

Connected with hearing in owls is another interesting development. All the feathers, except those used in flight, are soft and fluffy enabling the bird to drift soundlessly through the air. It used to be thought that this was a device to prevent prey hearing the approach of the owl but now it is believed that it enables the owl to hear the prey, an important factor since most of the hunting is done at night when hearing is more important than seeing.

Whistling Wings

In the day-flying predators the reverse is true, it is more important to see well than to hear well. Consequently feathers are not modified to stifle sound but on the contrary they often produce a whistling effect when the bird is in swift flight or in a power dive.

The sense of smell is poorly developed in all birds. Evidently the possession of good sight and hearing are all that is necessary for birds to succeed in populating the world. Even in the carrion-feeders such as the vultures sight serves to locate the odoriferous food, not smell as one might suspect.

The birds of prey are an important and necessary group in nature. That their status is finally being recognized by thinking persons is attested by the fact that they are now being afforded protection in most parts of North America, including British Columbia.

SWING TO ROCKEFELLER THEME

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Winning Debates But Not Issues

THE campaign which is now beginning will be waged at many levels both above and under the ground. Mr. Nixon's choice of Ambassador Lodge was made, it is apparent, in the belief that in the upper and open levels of the campaigning foreign affairs are the main concern of the country and the main subject, which can be won or lost.

Lodge was not chosen, as was Lyndon Johnson, because he has any political strength of his own, say with the farmers, with labor, with small business or with big business, or with any of the ethnic groups. He was chosen because he is a well-known figure and an attractive personality, identified with seven years of debate against the Russians.

Main Debate

Mr. Nixon's choice means not only that he expects foreign affairs to be the main subject of the open and visible arguments. It means also that he does not expect to talk very much or very emphatically about the internal problems of this country. Rockefeller would have done that. Nixon cannot do it. This is not because the two men are very far apart in what they think ought to be done. We can see that from Nixon's St. Louis speech and from the Nixon-Rockefeller contact last week.

Where they do differ is that Rockefeller believes in a fiscal policy which will pay for what needs to be done, while Nixon is tied to the essentially deflationary fiscal policy of Eisenhower. Without a break with this policy, Nixon is in a very poor position to contest with the Democrats in the field of public needs, beginning with defence, going on to education, and coming to all the aims announced by Mr. Nixon in his St. Louis speech.

Growth Rate Low

Nixon's fundamental handicap is that he is tied to a rate of growth which is too small for the expanding American population and for expanding American world responsibilities and domestic needs. Because of this, he is under a great handicap even in the field of foreign affairs. For the issue there is how the balance of national power, which has visibly turned against us in many parts of the world, can be righted. This can be done only by big investments of wealth and effort in our military, economic, scientific, educational, and cultural capacity. There is no way to the "victory" which Nixon calls for without spending a lot more money, and—fiscally stability is to be preserved—without producing a lot more wealth to provide the extra revenue.

Inhibited from dealing with the real issue in foreign affairs—which is what Rockefeller wanted to do—Nixon is concentrating on the question of who has the greater experience in foreign affairs, and particularly in debating with the Russians. It is, of course, a perfectly good question to raise in a campaign. Nixon and Lodge, who belong to the party controlling the executive branch of the government during seven years have more experience in the executive branch of the government than have Kennedy and Johnson, who have been in the legislative branch. But this is not the main question.

Consider, for example, Nixon's celebrated arguments with Khrushchev in the kitchen exhibit at the American Exposition in Moscow. Nixon had the better of the argument. Indeed he won it. And what were the results of winning this argument and all the other arguments we have won. Has the frontier of freedom advanced one inch? Has the empire of tyranny receded at all? In the year that has passed since Nixon stood up to Khrushchev in Moscow and since Lodge won his debate in New York our position in the Far East has deteriorated seriously and our position in Cuba and in Latin America has certainly not improved.

What does all this show? It shows that the job of dealing with the international Communists is not the job of arguing with the Russians, whether at the exposition in Moscow or at the Security Council in New York. The Russians are for all practical purposes impervious to argument, especially to public argument. Their calculations, which are often far from accurate, are not in terms of words or principles or ideals.

Terms of Power

Their calculations are made in terms of power—in terms of missiles and tanks and technical schools and trained engineers, and steel and oil and houses and Sputniks. Nixon won his debate. Lodge has, so he tells us, won all of his debates. But nevertheless the Communist influence is expanding. Why? Because the struggle between us is not a debate at all. It is a conflict of power against power, and this country has allocated too small a part of too small a product to those public actions which make for national power.

That was the real point of the Rockefeller effort, and I am inclined to believe that Nixon, if he were elected president, would turn—because he would have to and because he would want to—from the Eisenhower to the Rockefeller position. It will be hard for him to do this while Eisenhower is still in the White House. But Nixon is a subtle and a clever man, and he may be able to manage it.

Coexistence ... Mr. K's Style

BY WERNER BURMEISTER

"THE historic hour is near when all the peoples of the world, realizing to the full that capitalism is doomed and seeing the advantages of the new social system (of communism), will elect this new social system." So Mr. Khrushchev promised in Communist congress in Bucharest in June. To speed the approach of that hour, he has written a special preface to a collection of his own pronouncements on foreign policy during 1958. The title of the volume—For Victory in Peaceful Competition with Capitalism (Hutchinson, 40s.)—reads like one of those slogans in the Bolshevik Theatre. It is a fair description of Mr. Khrushchev's purpose, provided we remember that he hopes to win the fruits of war without actually shooting.

He has told us what he means by peaceful coexistence. It is the exact opposite of the "live and let live" approach which many people in the West like to think of when they hear the word "coexistence." For in Mr. Khrushchev's design, coexistence merely marks a fairly brief period of transition ending with the death of all social systems other than communism. During that period they will be mercilessly hurried to their grave by all means short of war. War is no longer necessary because the "forces of peace" are already stronger than the "forces of war."

'Peace and Progress'

Mr. Khrushchev, as he explains, represents both peace and progress. Anyone who disputes this claim is therefore an aggressor and will ultimately be conquered. But not by war. Although Russia has excellent rockets and even better weapons to come, she prefers not to use them in case the "aggressors" fight back and destroy the "forces of peace" as well as themselves. No, they will be overthrown by their own working class. The working class of each country will be proud to fulfill this historic mission. What if the working classes of other countries do not see things in this light? Well, then they are traitors to Leninism. Their countries and cities may be to be marked down, like West Berlin, as a "cancerous growth" and Mr. Khrushchev will propose a little "surgical operation." This unfortunate expression appears towards the end of this bulky volume on peaceful competition and rather spoils the effect.

Yet, in fact, the surgical operation has been postponed presumably because Mr. Khrushchev judges that the balance of world power has not yet been shifted sufficiently. He is confident that developments in other parts of the world—in Asia, Africa and South America—are working in favor of communism, and so he is prepared to keep the competition peaceful. The Chinese apparently are not. They want to see a speedy funeral of the "imperialists." So Mr. Khrushchev has now to act like a man trying to stop a bolting horse, running as hard as he can while tugging at the reins with all his might. We must hope that he will succeed so that the contest between the two systems may remain limited to economic and ideological means. If in the meantime Mr. Khrushchev's challenge will at last help the West fully to mobilize its strength in both these fields, we may yet succeed in keeping coexistence peaceful.

Taxes Should Be Cut

At the federal-provincial conference it was urged that provinces or municipalities should have a greater share of federal revenue. Many agree with this, and it has been suggested before.

In his first major House speech as Opposition leader (1957), CCF head Robert Strachan, M.L.A., suggested consideration of the following:

1. That the province enter the corporation tax field.
2. That the province set up "treasury branches" to sell insurance of various types.
3. That the resulting funds be used to provide low-interest housing and farm credit.

This is indeed constructive, sensible thinking. Such policies could create jobs. What a boon they would be also to young city and farm families, and to pensioners.

In effect, it would mean a considerable tax reduction for the home-owner, more efficiency for the farmer, and an easier source of funds for school and hospital building.

What is needed after all, is not just a change in the tax collector, but a reduction in taxes, especially for low-income groups.

PATRICK H. THOMAS, CCF Candidate, Saanich, 1422 Wende Road.

Hardly Understandable

After spending some time in New York, it is hardly understandable that Dr. Keenleyside should say: "Downtown Victoria is dirtier than downtown New York." Yet it is equally hard to understand anybody, with any knowledge of our beautiful city saying, after seeing those great smoke stacks of industry pouring out such large quantities of smoke and ash, that Victoria is really clean.

I feel sure many will agree that Dr. Keenleyside should be commended for waking us up out of our delusions if we think we have no smoke problem. Our scientists in the past have produced much of value from products which we considered waste. Possibly, in the not too distant future, something of value may be discovered in the great quantities of smoke and ash which is discharged through the huge chimneys of industry, of which we should be so pleased to be rid. In the meantime, let us hope our city council takes every possible measure to do something about this smoke problem.

Head Bangers

Editorial Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

Many parents are much puzzled when a child starts banging his head against the side of his crib or perhaps starts rocking back and forth, coming down hard, hitting his heels with his buttocks. The people wonder why the child is behaving in such a peculiar manner, and they wonder what will be the outcome. Is the habit dangerous? Will the child get over it? I know that years ago when a couple of my grandchildren developed these habits, I asked some of the leading pediatricians about them, and no one was able to tell me anything except that the child would certainly outgrow the trick without any bad results remaining. And this is what happened.

Alvarez

I was just reading an article by Drs. M. Kravitz, V. Rosenthal, Zeldi Teplitz, John B. Murphy and R. E. Lesser, of the University of Illinois (Chicago) and the St. Francis Hospital of Evanston, Illinois. They studied 135 "head-bangers." They say that the small child who keeps striking his head against something outgrows the practice without injury to his brain. A neurologic or psychiatric examination is advisable only if the child keeps up the habit after the age of three years. Then, the use of a sedative or a tranquilizer might help.

The child is usually a boy and the first-born in the family. He begins banging at about eight months of age, and continues until he is about 17 months old. If he is a "rocker," he seems half-awake. If he is a "head-banger" he does not seem to be bothered by any pain. He doesn't have temper tantrums, and he is not a thumb-sucker. These infants often show musical ability earlier than do most children. The electroencephalograms show no abnormality in the brain. The head-banging or rocking certainly does not seem to be a device to get attention. As I said, when I have watched such children it seemed to me that they were half-asleep. They did not notice me when I came into the room and stood, studying what they were doing.

I was just reading a statement by Dr. C. F. Gastineau, of the Mayo Clinic, made in answer to a question someone asked him about the drugs that take away some of the appetite of stout persons. He said there is a family of drugs related to dextro-amphetamine in their chemical structure. All have some effect, and it is hard to say which is the best of the lot. Most of these drugs have the disadvantage that they make many a patient restless and sleepless—hence they are best taken in the morning. If taken late in the day, they are likely to produce insomnia. Personally, when I am reducing weight, I like to depend on diet alone. If I were depending on diet plus a drug, I'd cheat a bit and ate more than I should. I would hope that the drug would help me out. When I am on diet alone, if I gain weight, I will know I was bad, and I have no excuse.

In the April Statistical Bulletin of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company I read some figures obtained a while ago by the Society of Actuaries. Unfortunately, the statistics are based only on experience with men, but the authors say that what mortality experience they have had with women is similar to that of the men. The important point is that when stout men reduce and get down to normal, their mortality rate is even less than normal. For instance, in a group of men who had been 35 to 40 per cent overweight and who, later, when they had reduced, were accepted for insurance, the final mortality rate was 96 per cent of the average. In the cases of men who remained overweight the mortality was 151 per cent.

Recently, Dr. Lauretta Bender, of the Creedmor State Hospital of New York, made a study of 33 boys and girls who killed someone before they were 16. As the doctor says, in most of these cases psychiatrists had warned that the child would probably kill, but no one paid any attention. Several of the children had an abnormal electroencephalogram suggesting epilepsy; several were schizophrenic, some were antisocial and paranoid (thinking people were going to harm them), a few were "fire-bugs"; some were mentally retarded, and some had a bad home. Several appeared to have an abnormal brain. One great trouble today is that in most places there is no place in which a psychotic child can be taken care of. Often the authorities are unable to do anything until the child murders someone; they have to wait patiently for that. Then they can act!

City Building Starting On Comeback

Victoria City construction took a nosedive last month but is picking up rapidly this week, city building department reported today.

Only 434 building permits, valued at $241,726, were issued during July compared with 634 worth $962,640 issued in the same month last year.

"But already the permit applications on file for August are almost as much as we had all through July so there will be far more this month," said assistant city engineer Rodrick Clack.

FOUR HOUSES
The July figures include permits for four houses worth $45,000. A year ago, permits were issued for six houses worth $62,000, one duplex worth $16,000 and an 11-story apartment building worth $60,000.

So far this year 3,610 permits valued at $4,737,836 have been approved by the City Hall offices, compared with 3,680 permits worth $5,135,000 during the first seven months of 1959.

"We're down somewhat from last year but it still is the second biggest year on record so far," said Mr. Clack.

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

Flowering Plant Used to Make Tea

A flowering plant beloved in gardens of the 1800s collected a number of familiar names, some of which come down to us today.

Sweet Bergamot, Bee-balm and Oswego Tea-plant are some of the names given to the plant Monarda didyma, after Dr. Monardes, a Spanish physician and botanist, and "didyma" referring to the twin stamens.

The name of Oswego Tea provides us the clue to its place of origin, for it is a native of eastern North America, from Quebec down to Georgia. Used as a tea by the Pilgrim Fathers (and no doubt, the Mothers) probably followed their example after the English tea chests were emptied into Boston Harbor.

SPICY SCENT
Grown in herb gardens for about 200 years, we now use it for the ornamental effect of its leaves and flowers and common in gardens here.

for the spicy scent emitted when the plant is lightly brushed. We are fortunate to find the glowing velvety red color in such an easily grown plant as bergamot.

The square leafy stems grow to about two feet in height and are topped with round clusters of rather shaggy flowers. Lasting long in condition on the plants, monarda is interesting too as a cut flower. Not fussy as to soil or aspect, any garden position not in full shade will suit.

SEPARATE THEM
Cutting off the old flower heads as soon as they fade in July will improve the plants. In fact, the ideal way to treat monarda is to take up the plants each August, separate into small pieces, replant in a nursery row for winter and back into the border in groups in spring.

This treatment produces the largest and longest lasting flower heads. Although there are named varieties in pink and white, the one called Cambridge Scarlet is the only monarda at all.

Let us be sure to have some of its leaves and flowers and common in gardens here.

ON BERLIN

West Takes Nikita Seriously

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States was shaping its foreign policy strategy today on the assumption that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev would go through with his threat to touch off a new Berlin crisis if the West German Parliament met there next month.

An authoritative source said this government was taking Khrushchev's threat at face value because it could not afford to do otherwise. The United States, Britain and France have vowed to defend West Berlin at all costs.

At least three recent published reports have said the Russians and Communist East Germans planned to stir up trouble over Berlin soon.

The United States told Russia in blunt terms Tuesday that the Soviet Union had no legal voice in Allied rights in West Berlin, which is completely surrounded by Communist territory.

WARNING
Khrushchev warned during a news conference in Vienna July 8 that he would sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany if West Germany held its traditional fall Bundestag meeting in Berlin as it has for many years. The Soviet premier said the treaty would cancel U.S., British and French occupation rights in West Berlin.

His threat was echoed two weeks later by East German leader Walter Ulbricht. And this week, in a memorandum to western powers, East Germany again threatened a separate peace treaty, denounced the Potsdam Agreement which divided Germany, and called West Berlin a "dangerous trouble spot."

The authoritative source said the possibility of a new crisis hinged on whether the Bundestag meeting in Berlin took place. The state department, he said, had discussed this with West German officials but had not tried to influence them.

Mayor, Council Split Pot

EASTVIEW, Ont. (CP)—Testimony at an inquiry into Eastview's financial affairs revealed Tuesday that the eight members of council and Mayor Gordon Lavergne split $3,200 earmarked for entertainment of "distinguished visitors" in 1959.

Councillor Victor Belair said during testimony at the provincial government-ordered inquiry into operations of the town within the boundaries of Ottawa, that this year's fund for "distinguished visitors" was to be $4,000.

Wicklow, the seaport in the Republic of Ireland, 30 miles south of Dublin, has the ruins of a 13th-century monastery.

FLYING ANT SWARMS HALT LONDON TRAFFIC

LONDON (Reuters)—Dense swarms of flying ants brought traffic to a halt and drove pedestrians and sunbathers to shelter in London and parts of southwestern England Tuesday.

In northwest London, motorcyclists were forced to a standstill by clouds of the flying ants. Pedestrians scurried to shelter.

Judge Lauds Good Try by Accused

A driver who wrecked a navy station wagon on Patricia Bay Highway three months ago was fined $75 when he was found guilty in Saanich police court Tuesday of careless driving.

George E. Pumble, Sidney, also was restricted to business driving only for two months. Pleading not guilty, Pumble conducted his own defence and drew praise from Magistrate William Ostler for this.

But the Crown's case was stronger and was proved to the court's satisfaction.

Mr. Ostler said he could not understand how Pumble emerged from the vehicle alive after it swerved in loose gravel on a shoulder near Claremont, went more than 300 feet out of control, into a ditch and broke off a power pole.

RAIN DOUSES PRAIRIES, RAISES HOPE FOR CROP

REGINA (CP)—Roaring gale-force winds and torrential rain swept portions of southern Saskatchewan Tuesday, flattening rich grain crops almost ready for harvest. The storm broke a month-long drought that sent record-high crop condition figures plunging downwards. Rain in varying amounts fell in most southern areas throughout the day, giving hope of recovery for later grain crops.

Tory Would End MLA Pensions

The Progressive Conservative party will fight to throw out pensions for members of the legislature, Oak Bay Tory James A. A. George said today.

"I don't need a pension and I don't want a pension if I am an MLA," said the Oak Bay election candidate. He was commenting on a Times story which showed that some MLAs defeated at the next election would be eligible to receive a pension.

"I am personally opposed to these pensions and so is the Conservative party," said Mr. George.

Mr. George said MLAs receive a $5,000 annual salary for attending a session of less than two months; cabinet ministers receive $17,500.

The pension they may receive would be better spent on assistance to the aged and needy, he said.

"In B.C. today there are large numbers of retired civil servants whose pensions are inadequate for today's cost of living."

Vic's Toe Points Out Rough Rider Weakness

Natural GOLF

By JIMMY DEMARET

An accurate rule-of-thumb to remember when the golfer is faced with an uphill or downhill lie is that the ball is played off the highest foot.

Otherwise, the stance is standard. The feet parallel the intended line of flight. The left foot is slightly open.

Because the three-wood shot, the address for which is shown in the accompanying illustration, is to be hit from an uphill lie, the ball is played farther to the left side, or almost directly off the left heel. The knees are comfortably flexed. The hips are open slightly. So are the shoulders to conform with the feet and hips.

Guard against the tendency of the weight to move to the right foot on the backswing and stay there. This encourages the arms and hands to move down and through the hitting zone, leaving the body too far behind. When this happens, the hands further have the tendency of "passing" or getting farther along the arc, than the arms at impact. The result is nearly always a hook.

Cats Nip Roughies On Late Field Goal

HAMILTON (CB)—Veteran Steve Oneschuk booted a 30-yard field goal early in the final quarter to break a 14-14 tie and give Hamilton Tiger-Cats an unimpressive 17-14 exhibition football victory Tuesday night over Saskatoon Roughriders.

A slim crowd of about 7,500 shirt-sleeved fans watched as the Big Four Tiacs took a first-quarter lead on a single and a converted touchdown, lost it in the second as the Western Inter-provincial Football Union Roughriders got two touchdowns, and tied it up in the third.

Husky Jim Joyce counted two touchdowns for the Ti-cats. Oneschuk scored a single off a wide placement, converted one major and added his winning placement in the third.

HILL SCORES TWICE

For the Riders, Bob Hill deked his way for a touchdown in the second after a Hamilton penalty helped to move the Riders in close. Hill took a pass, again from close in, for the second touchdown. He converted both.

The visitors made the better showing, holding the Hamilton offensive so well that the Tiacs three times lost the ball on downs and, were forced to attempt field goals on four occasions.

Tugmen Steam Ahead In City Boxla Playoff

Foul Bay Tugmen are one win away from the city Senior "B" Lacrosse League playoff crown.

Tugmen grabbed the first game of a best-of-three series with Jokers, 8-5, at Stevenson Park on Tuesday as Reg Foster fired three goals.

Second game will be played

Thursday at 6.30 p.m. with the third, if necessary, scheduled for Sunday.

Reg Lott, Dave Edgar, Mel Davidson, Ron Marshall and Keith Lawrence all scored single goals for the winners. Art Green, Sr., scored twice for Jokers while Len Scott, Dave Gale and Brian Gray collected singles.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Ottawa Rough Riders, down to 36 players and just about set for the coming Big Four football season had one weakness firmly brought to the fore here Tuesday night.

They need someone in their muscular retinue that can kick a football over the crossbar. Had such a man been available here Tuesday they would have left today with a perfect record against B.C. Lions in five exhibition football tilts.

Instead they suffered their first loss, a 27-26 verdict decided on a late field goal by Vic Kristopaitis and a last-minute miss by Davey West.

Kristopaitis, picked up from Toronto Argonauts last season by Lions, was the difference in the wide-open game here before 18,156 fans.

He converted all three B.C. touchdowns and added two field goals. West made good on only one of four conversion attempts after Ottawa touchdowns.

SECOND EXHIBITION WIN
The result gave Lions their second exhibition victory in four starts in warming up for the regular season opener here against Winnipeg Blue Bombers Aug. 12. The other win was against Montreal Alouettes a week ago. They tied Montreal Alouettes and lost to Winnipeg in the other preseason games.

Lions allowed the Rough Riders to open and close the scoring, but in between almost ran away with the game as they led 24-7, early in the third quarter behind the leadership of rookie import quarterback Jim Walden.

But wholesale defensive experiments by B.C. head coach Wayne Robinson as the game progressed almost cost them the ball game. The Rough Riders roared for three consecutive touchdowns against various B.C. defensive alignments to go ahead 25-24 with five minutes to play.

It was here the toe of Kristopaitis spelled the difference when he hit for a field goal at 13:05 from 24 yards out at a slight angle to make it 27-25. Ottawa charged back to the B.C. 16, where West was wide on a field goal try with 40 seconds remaining and counted only a single.

RIDERS AHEAD IN STAX

Paced by the running of fullback Dave Thelen, who picked up 185 yards in 14 carries through wide holes opened up by the big Rough Rider offensive line, Ottawa held a wide margin statistically.

They piled up 25 first downs on 404 yards rushing and 143 yards through the air. B.C. replied with 16 first downs on 293 yards on the ground and 134 via the air.

Halfbacks Joe Kulbacki, Mike Hagler and Ron Stewart and fullback Gerry Nesbitt scored touchdowns for Ottawa. Halfback Willie Fleming scored twice for B.C., the second on a 70-yard gallop through the line, and end John Lands completed a 54-yard pass-and-run play with Walden for the other.

AWARDS ADD INTEREST . . .

Stew, Ron Vie for Goal Title

The battle for the Victoria goal-scoring championship is going right down to the wire.

When Victoria and Vancouver meet to wind up their Inter-City Lacrosse League seasons at 8.30 tonight at Memorial Arena, both Ron Jay and Stew Smith will have 35 goals to their credit.

No other Victoria sniper can catch either of them.

Next to Smith and Jay in the goal department is Alan Gill, who has netted 25. Gill and Jay each have 60 points, counting assists.

Smith, who has plugged along all season with one or two goals a game, spurred to catch Jay on Tuesday. He scored three goals despite the fact that Vancouver won, 13-7, at Kerrisdale Arena.

That set it up for tonight and that is why, despite the fact that the game won't mean a thing in league standings, there is liable to be plenty of action.

Whitey Severson, in his 16th year of senior boxla, has virtually clinched his position as top point-getter for Victoria with a total of 69 points so far this season. Tonight he will probably add to that total and further boost his all-time scoring record.

Another source of interest tonight will be the annual awards presentations.

Last year Al Gill won the Blackstock trophy as the team's most valuable player, the Dillabough trophy for sportsmanship and the Bacon trophy for competitiveness, as judged by his teammates.

Also to be presented are the Bradshaw trophy, for the club's top rookie of the year, and the Birks trophy for the most popular player. Both were won by Jim McNeill last year.

HONOLULU — Yama Bahama, 131, Bimini, West Indies, outpointed Stan Harrington, 133, Honolulu, 10.

In Tuesday's game, lanky Fred Usselman fired four goals and added an assist in his best performance of the year.

Smith, who had an assist in addition to his three goals, was Victoria's top scorer.

Market Summaries

Some demand for aircraft and missile stocks developed on an otherwise listless and irregular market at New York.

Motors continued to lag and chemicals were mostly down. Most groups were well scrambled with pluses and minuses.

Depressed described the market at Toronto. Golds were the main interest.

AT TORONTO Hudson Bay and International Nickel took mines lower with drops of 44% and 51%.

Ventures gained 1/2 at 22 1/2 while, among golds, Kerr Addison went ahead 1/2 at 12 1/2 and Hollinger improved 1/2 at 21.

Royalty set a depressed trend among western oils with a 45-cent drop at $6.30. Calgary and Edmonton was off 1/2 at 13 and Home eased 20 cents at $7.80.

AT NEW YORK McIntyre jumped 1/2 among Canadian issues. International Nickel was up 1/2 and Dome Mines 1/2.

Aluminum-Ltd. and Canadian Pacific were off 1/2 apiece. American stock exchange prices were lower in light trading. Shawinigan was up 1/2 and Brazilian Traction was off 1/2 on the Canadian list.

Other improved earnings pictures came from Texaco—$5.64, 97¢ or $1.70 per share compared with $4.81, 97¢ and $1.46 per share; Imperial Oil—$30.68, 97¢ or 97 cents per share compared with 74 cents per share; and Interprovincial Pipe Line—$8.43, 97¢ or $1.67 per share compared with $1.63 per share.

Many other factors have to be considered before oil and gas companies can be regarded as a high-yielding investment risk. Nonetheless it may well be that oil and natural gas stocks are about to "turn the corner" and are ripe for an investor who can wait.

BUSINESS VIEWS

Oil Firms Take Long Range Outlook

By HAL MALONE
Times Business Editor

When 16 oil companies bid more than $3,000,000 for petroleum and natural gas rights in B.C., there was a tendency to ask "why?"

Currently, for some time, oil, gas and pipeline stocks have been so low it hasn't been difficult for investors to turn away from them. There is a glut of oil on the world market. Competition has been fierce. Price-cutting has been rampant. Natural gas, widely accepted in western Canada, has not been making the inroads anticipated in Ontario and Quebec. How, then, can bids exceed $3 million be justified? Research indicates a three-fold answer:

1. Four major companies report a better earnings picture in the first half of 1960 over the same period in 1959; 2. Oil companies have such substantial investments tied up in existing operations they cannot consider the short-term outlook but must take a long-range view; and,

3. If an oil company doesn't pick up potentially lush land, drilling and exploration permits, there are any number of competing firms ready to grab them.

An excellent example of the last premise is Shell Oil of Canada. Shell shelled out $738,998 for an exploration permit covering 48,549 wildcat acres in the Liard River basin. That works out to $15.75 per acre—expensive gambling for unproven real estate.

What most observers overlook is that Shell gathered a series of parcels in the same area in previous auctions. Obviously the company is satisfied that its early acquisitions will prove fruitful or else it wouldn't have gone so high this time. Another point to be considered is that competing oil firms must also have learned via the grapevine that Shell had something hot and was going to add to it. This seems the logical reason for Shell's high bid.

Earnings-wise, four companies have checked in with semi-annual reports showing increased earnings. British American happily told shareholders its earnings amounted to $13,730,000 or 67 cents per share compared with $8,396,000 or 41 cents a share. With it came the prediction by BA president E. D. Loughney that consumption of petroleum products should be up five per cent even without an increase in economic activity.

Other improved earnings pictures came from Texaco—$5.64, 97¢ or $1.70 per share compared with $4.81, 97¢ and $1.46 per share; Imperial Oil—$30.68, 97¢ or 97 cents per share compared with 74 cents per share; and Interprovincial Pipe Line—$8.43, 97¢ or $1.67 per share compared with $1.63 per share.

Many other factors have to be considered before oil and gas companies can be regarded as a high-yielding investment risk. Nonetheless it may well be that oil and natural gas stocks are about to "turn the corner" and are ripe for an investor who can wait.

SUNNY SIDE UP... Conventionalities are increasing in popularity with Canadian motorists, reports General Motors of Canada... GM expects to sell 6,000 soft-tops in 1960, double the number sold last year.

Greatest demand comes in order from Toronto, Montreal, London and Vancouver—and Victoria has more sunshine than all of them!

Labor Strife Major Threat To Province

VANCOUVER (CP)—The greatest threat to B.C.'s future prosperity is disharmony in labor-management relations, the president of the B.C. Chamber of Commerce said Tuesday.

"Whether we like it or not we have the reputation, both nationally and internationally, of having unreliable and costly labor forces," Maurice Finerty told the Rotary Club.

"We have also the reputation of being unable to settle our labor-management differences without resorting to costly strikes."

"It's a simple matter to measure these economic losses in terms of lost wages for the worker, lost productivity, lost taxes for the government and lost profit for the investor."

"Only recently, with the increased competition from the economic development of Europe and Asia, have we begun to think in terms of our other losses. Investment capital that didn't arrive, new industries that went somewhere else, new jobs that were not created."

Police Took Devious Route To Suspected Gaming Den

Triad of a Chinese charged with being a gambling house keeper dragged through its second sitting in city police court Tuesday afternoon and probably will fill one more sitting Thursday before Crown evidence is in.

Cons. Lorne Shandley told the court how he entered the alleged gambling den at 1828 Government by a devious route through a confectionery store at 361 Fisgard Street, across a narrow alley and up a flight of stairs the early morning of July 17.

He said he found two mah jong and one pai gow games in progress as he entered a mezzanine room. The accused, Lee Yon, was banker of the pai gow game, he said.

On entering the room with Sgt. Stan Holmes, Constable Shandley said he observed eight men sitting at two mah jong tables. They were allowed to leave.

DOMINOES

Another mah jong table was not in use, but there were a number of men at the fourth table, its heavy cloth covered with bone tiles or dominoes, chips and a sum of money.

The tables, a high chair occupied by Yon, money, tiles and other paraphernalia were seized as exhibits.

From the table top, 29 tiles were seized, but Cons. Shandley, who described the method of playing pai gow, said 32 tiles would be needed before a game was possible.

PROTECTION

First Chinese witness to give evidence was Joe Wong, accused in another matter who accepted protection of the Canada Evidence Act so that his testimony could not be used against him.

Mr. O'Grady was unsatisfied with Wong's replies, and asked for a declaration branding him a hostile witness.

The application was denied. Wong, a 40-year resident of Canada, took the "paper oath," a form of pledge binding on the conscience of some non-Christians.

Mr. Ostler asked him to write his name in Chinese on a piece of paper and when the official interpreter set fire to it, Wong swore to tell the truth.

'SOUL WILL BURN'

"If you don't tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, your soul will burn as this paper," the magistrate told the witness.

Wong Wah said he was there, too, watching the others, not playing himself. He said he saw men at the pai gow table, the accused in the slot and chips and money before him. The money was covered when police arrived, he said.

The door was not locked; anybody could go up to the room, Wah said.

Foo Lee, born in China and a resident here for about a year, said he had seen the accused there several times, always at the high chair behind the pai gow table.

"He was playing cards, like everyone else, around there," Lee said.

Another Chinese, Tommy Louie, is charged with being keeper at the same premises and 14 more Chinese are alleged to have been found at a gaming house. These await trial Oct. 7, and with Yon are represented by counsel George Gregory.

'Walker' Probes Autos

OTTAWA (CP)—A university professor who prefers walking to driving a car has been appointed by the federal government to diagnose the ailment troubling Canada's auto industry and recommend a possible cure.

Professor Vincent Bladen, 50, dean of arts at the University of Toronto, was constituted the one-man royal commission by Prime Minister Diefenbaker and given a wide-ranging task.

His investigation, the government's answer to a plea for federal help from the auto industry, auto workers, parts manufacturers and civic leaders, is to start immediately.

He will look into foreign car imports, U.S.-Canada relations within the auto industry, problems of the small parts industry and the Canadian industry's ability to make and sell the kind of cars wanted by Canadians.

He was also asked to show how Parliament, government, labor and management can help boost sales and jobs in the ailing auto industry.

TO REPORT IN FEBRUARY
In an interview in Toronto, he said he expects to complete the inquiry and turn in his report by next February.

He said he will set up operations in Toronto, conduct hearings in Windsor and Oshawa, visit the United States and possibly make a trip to Europe.

"The condition of the automobile industry, as a secondary industry, has a fundamental effect on national policy," he said.

"The effects can be appalling and frightening. The solution would be one which applies to secondary industry as a whole."

Professor Bladen, who turns 60 in 12 days' time, came to Canada from Britain-Oxford-educated, he joined the University of Toronto in 1921. Before becoming dean of arts, he was head of the university's economics department.

He is a former president of the Canadian Political Science Association and for 12 years was editor of The Canadian Journal of Economics and Political Science.

Handicraft Show To End Saanich Playlot Season

The climax of activities in Saanich parks will be reached next week with a four-day exhibition of children's handicrafts beginning Monday at the Standard Furniture Company building, 737 Yates.

The efforts of some 2,000 children—who, by then, will have spent five weeks under instruction in the municipal-ity's 18 parks—will be on display.

Plaster of Paris models, woodwork, copperwork, raffia, drawings and paintings will make up the majority of the youngsters' exhibits.

The exhibition, which is being organized by Peter Clarke, chief supervisor for Saanich playgrounds, and A. E. Richman, parks superintendent for Saanich, will open Monday afternoon and run through Thursday.

(A) "ICE PALACE" (Royal)
—If it doesn't come up to the adaptation of another Edna Ferber novel, the memorable "Giant," most should find Warners' "Ice Palace" equally thorough and crammed with interesting detail. This results in the two hours and 23 minutes running time passing quickly without seeming overly long.

"Ice Palace," of course, is Alaska, the new, 49th state of the U.S.A. The scene covered by Miss Ferber's skilled pen starts with the close of the First World War and ends with statehood. The land of awesome glaciers, snow-capped mountains, bountiful fishing waters, land of game, gold and cold comes alive through the characters who would rape its storehouse for personal gain or who would fight to preserve it for those to come. Magnificent Technicolor photography lends credence and vitality to the story.

JOB IS GONE

It all starts when Richard Burton returns to Seattle to take up when he left off, as foreman of a cannery. The job, however, has gone, cannery owner Barry Kelley not wanting him to be around after he finds daughter Martha Hyer making eyes at him.

Burton then takes off for Alaska, falls into the sea as the result of a fight and is saved by fisherman Robert Ryan. Hurt, bitter, nastily ambitious, Burton is soon wrestling with Ryan's fiancée, Carolyn Jones, and starting a cannery that is to make him into a millionaire.

At the expense of wife, Miss Hyer, Miss Jones, his best friend Ryan and through the morally illegal trapping of millions of Alaska salmon.

As is Miss Ferber's wont, the story covers not only the immediate but the future and the plot twists and turns, proceeding now slowly, now galloping. Incidents cover births, deaths, love and hate, decline and progress. To explain any of them here is not necessary and might easily mar the pleasure of those seeing the film.

FINE ACTRESS

Acting is capable, especially that of Miss Jones who is developing into a fine actress of more than ordinary skill. There is little doubt that true stardom is awaiting her not far around the proverbial corner. Burton, if appearing limited at times in his range of emotions, is adequate while Ryan is very good as the Alaskan proud of his land and its promise.

Possibly the only chief ingredient lacking in "Ice Palace" is humor. If this had been most liberally applied as it was in "Giant" the picture might have turned out to be even better than it is.

ALL INVITED TO GO ALONG WITH FLIVVERS

Whether you own one or not, you are invited to an old-fashioned car rally from here to Sooke on Sunday, courtesy of Victoria Vintage Car Club. Club spokesman George Gregory said among 25 to 30 classic models expected to turn out for the 25-mile trip likely will be a 1924 3-litre Bentley, a 1927 Rolls Royce and a 1928 Model A Ford.

They will assemble at Hill side and Quadra parking lot of Safeway's store at 10 a.m., proceeding under direction of road captain Ken Showers.

At the destination, Sooke Platts, Dr. Robert Lawrence will conduct a gymkhana, or test of driving skill.

Reds Urge Arms Meet Boycott

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet bloc campaigned today for a general boycott of the 82-nation United Nations disarmament commission meeting asked by the United States for Aug. 15.

Representatives from the nine Communist delegations were visiting Asian, African and other missions to the UN urging that they stay away from the meeting if it were called.

The Communists were plugging the Soviet Union's rival proposal for a summit conference of all 82 UN members during the General Assembly convening Sept. 20.

Britain, France and Canada have frowned on such a meeting.

The Communist argument went that the permanent UN delegates who make up the disarmament commission have authority to do no more than engage in time-wasting debate, while the heads of government have full power to conclude agreements.

HAD AGREED BEFORE

Diplomatic sources said most UN delegations had agreed informally to the Aug. 15 meeting before commission chairman Luis Padilla Nervo of Mexico proposed it formally Friday. But many were reported reconsidering because of the Soviet stand.

The feeling in some delegations seemed to be that a disarmament meeting without one of the world's two big armed camps would only underline and cement the deadlock between the West and the Communists.

The state department said, however, that it was going ahead with its proposal for the commission meeting even without the Russians. Press officer Lincoln White said in Washington any government head—including Soviet Premier Khrushchev—could attend the commission meeting if he wanted to, and that commission discussion did not preclude a disarmament discussion by the General Assembly.

White added that the Soviet proposal for an outside summit conference was "a Soviet tactical manoeuvre to divert the disarmament commission from considering the question of disarmament."

SENATORS OPPOSE TROOPS TO CONGO

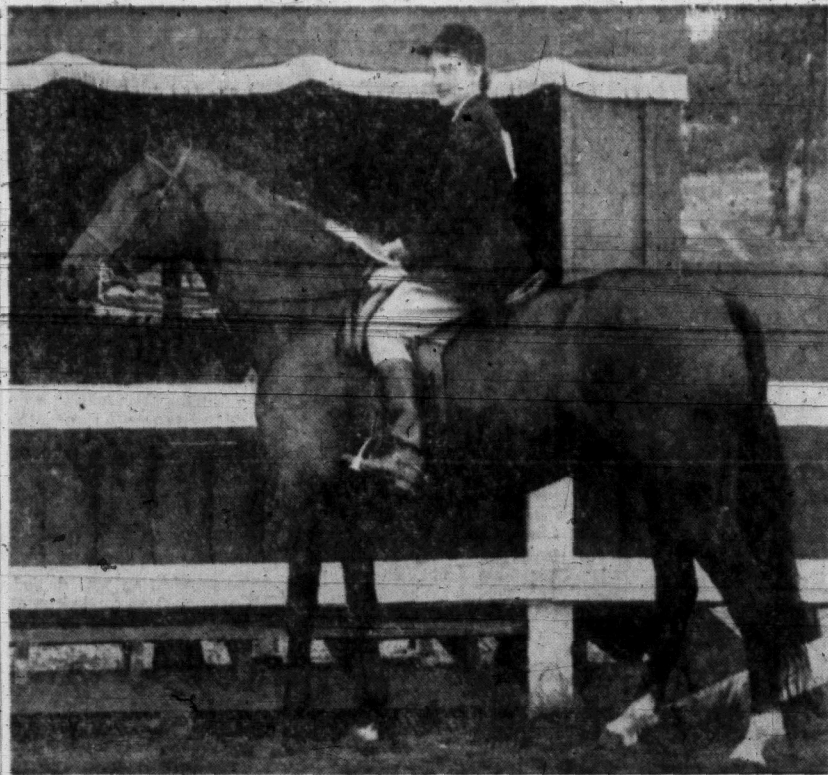

'Our Men Have Lives To Live in Canada'

OTTAWA (UPI)—Canada's decision to send troops to the Congo was "flatly" opposed Tuesday by one senator and questioned by another before the upper house approved the move.

Senator Jean-Francois Pouliot (L., Quebec) who said he had opposed sending troops to Korea, said: "I oppose this resolution flatly."

"What benefit will we get from being policemen by sending troops to the Congo?" he asked.

Senator Arthur Roebuck (L., Ontario) said he would not vote against the measure but added he was not prepared to

IN FRASER VALLEY COMPETITION

City Horsewoman Scores Again

A young Victoria horsewoman has scored high with her two horses in stiff endurance competitions at the Maple Ridge Equitation Centre at Haney in the Fraser Valley.

Jean Dunbar, 16-year-old member of the Victoria Riding Academy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Dunbar, 1007 Joan Crescent, and her two jumping horses Seven-Up and Fen's Folly led the way in a one-day combined training event last Sunday.

The event was open to any horse which has not won a first, second or third ribbon in any official combined training contest in Canada or the U.S.

THREE PARTS

The test is in three sections—dressage, cross country and stadium jumping. In dressage the animal and rider must go through "high school" training paces; the cross country was over a 19-jump, one and three-quarter miles course in which an eight-to-10-minute bonus time limit was allowed; in the stadium jumping there were 10 jumps in a show ring. Seven-Up was top horse in the three-way test and was awarded the Woodward Perpetual Trophy, while Fen's Folly was third best.

On the day previous, Seven-Up won the junior novice dressage event at the school's annual summer show and Fen's Folly was second.

At the same show Fen's Folly placed fourth in a novice show hack event.

MEET THE BEST

Further accomplishments can be expected from this horse-rider team with the winning ways at a two-day Canadian Horse Shows' Association show at Richmond this weekend.

With a number of other Victoria riders and horses they will be competing against the province's best. There will be Western as well as English events at the show and Victoria and district will be represented in both.

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active. Advt.

Economic expansion—not a larger tax slice—is B.C.'s goal in fiscal negotiations with Ottawa, Attorney-General Robert Bonner said Monday.

Mr. Bonner has just returned from federal-provincial talks in Ottawa.

Both Ontario and Alberta "were pretty strong" in backing-up this idea, said Mr. Bonner.

The main feature of the talks was the recognition by other provinces that "we must bake two more pies" instead of seeking a bigger portion of the existing one, he said.

U.S. ELECTION CAMPAIGN

'Personalities or Issues'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States presidential election campaign got embroiled Tuesday in an argument that may pop up often before the November election—are the candidates dealing in personalities or issues?

Vice President Richard Nixon, the Republican presidential nominee, touched it off on leaving Washington for a vote-wooing trip to the west coast and Hawaii. He told reporters that his Democratic opponent, Senator John Kennedy, "started on the low road in the campaign" and intends to keep on it.

"I am not going to engage in personalities," Nixon said. "Regardless of what he does I'm going to stay on issues." That was Nixon's response to Kennedy charging him in a press conference Monday with "a lack of beliefs" and of betraying Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson by renouncing Benson's farm policies.

REJECTS CHARGE

At Hyannis Port, Mass., where he is holding a series of conferences, Kennedy, the Democratic presidential candidate, rejected Nixon's "low road" charge. He insisted that his remarks about Nixon constituted campaigning on the issues and not a personal attack.

The biggest news from the Kennedy camp was word that he has made up with former president Harry Truman.

Kennedy said he made a telephone call to Truman, who had snubbed the Democratic national convention in Los Angeles charging it had been fixed in advance to assure Kennedy's nomination.

"President Truman (in Independence, Mo.) was generous enough to say that he would be glad to help us" in the campaign, Kennedy said.

LEFT ALONE Tuesday night when his master drowned, dog maintains guard over boat at Weir's Beach. Gail Cooper, 11, of 772 Monterey, has been able to feed it and give it water, but dog won't permit anyone else near boat. The black Labrador has stayed with boat continuously since tragedy.

Faithful Dog Refuses to End Boat Vigil As Navy Diving Team Hunts for Master's Body

A seven-man team of navy divers today searched unsuccessfully for the body of an elderly man who slipped from a 12-foot boat and drowned Tuesday evening off shore from Weir's beach.

Although RCMP have a commercial fishing licence found in the boat, with the registration number of the boat he was using—14K 9816—they feel identification is not sufficiently positive to release the name of the man.

SOOKE

It is believed he is a Sooke resident.

The tragedy was noted when a Victoria yachtsman, Arthur J. Cox, 160 Eberts, investigated a drifting boat in which a large black dog was the only sign of life.

As he approached he could see the body of a man hanging head down in the water with his foot hooked around an oarlock, and apparently dead.

The dog would let no one near to pull the body from the water. Efforts made to raise it were unsuccessful, and it slipped from the boat and sank.

Mr. Cox took the boat to fishermen near shore, then stood by at the point where the body was lost pending arrival of police.

It was believed the victim had fallen out of the boat, but with his leg caught was unable to climb back.

He was last seen alive by Rae McDonald, 2941 Ilene Terrace, and Philip Beattie, 2113 Foul Bay Road, who remarked that it was unusual to see a fisherman with such a large dog in a boat.

Mr. Cox reported finding the body at 7:30 p.m.

Four RCN divers started a search Tuesday night, but were forced to give up at 10 p.m. Today's party, led by

Lieut. J. G. Colwill, started searching at 8 a.m.

Although the depth of from 60 to 70 feet is considered moderate, divers are hampered by a three-knot current and can stay below only from 20 to 30 minutes at a stretch. Visibility is poor, and authorities are not hopeful of recovering the body within the next few hours.

The dog continues to stand guard at the boat and attacks anyone coming near. It has been reported that the boat had been kept at Pedder Bay.

B.C. Lags Far Behind In City Road Grants

Victoria, Vancouver Unhappy

A Vancouver City delegation seeking more road grants, and a niggardly provincial showing in a national survey both arrived here at the same time to plague the B.C. cabinet today.

The Vancouver group was to ask the cabinet for a larger grant than the $350,000 allocated to the city by the province this year with certain strings attached.

To qualify for the money, it must be matched from civic coffers and spent on roads approved by the province.

Victoria City Hall officials, who weren't too happy with the $68,000 grant offered the city, will be watching the outcome of the cabinet meeting with special interest.

TOO SMALL

The municipal objections are that the grants are too small in relation to the problem of maintaining arterial roads that connect with highways and that they should be unconditional.

The national survey, compiled by the non-profit Canadian Tax Foundation, showed B.C. was far behind the western provinces and most of the nation in sharing its road users' revenue with municipalities.

MANITOBA TOPS

Most generous province is Manitoba, which in the 1958-59 fiscal year gave 27.7 per cent of its revenue from vehicle licences and gasoline tax back to municipalities in the form of road grants.

British Columbia gave its municipalities only half of one per cent—$190,000 out of a total $40,872,000 revenue.

Saskatchewan's road grants represented 21.3 per cent of revenue. Alberta's grants were 13.1 per cent and Ontario's grants were 26.3 per cent.

Only Nova Scotia, which gave none, and Prince Edward Island, which gave .4 per cent, were more niggardly with their municipalities than B.C.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. Will you give me the history of St. Camosun? My son, a logger near Port Alice, found a cabin door with a brass lock and key in it floating in Quatsino Sound. The key had on it "please mail, if found, to St. Camosun."—E.L.

A. St. Camosun operated for many years in the B.C. coast service and was sold in 1945 to Greek interests for trade in the Near East. Built in Ayer, Scotland in 1913, she was first used in the Orkney Islands service. Launched as the Favorite, her name was later changed to St. Margaret. About 1925 she was purchased by Canadian National Steamships and her name changed to the Prince Charles. The ship was then sold to Union Steamships and her name changed to Camosun.

MONTE ROBERTS

There is a saying around our house, anything that happens to Roberts, he gets a column out of it.

Roberts stubs his toe, he gets a column out of it. Robert's steps on the cat's tail, he gets a column out of it. Roberts pulls a goof in a news story, he gets a column out of it.

(It is not true he pulls goofs in news stories on purpose so he can get a column. Making a goof in a news story is just doing the what comes naturally.)

Even so simple a matter as getting a parking ticket is apt to give Roberts material for a column—in fact, in the matter of parking tickets, he's three for five on the season to date.

Thus it was with something akin to relish that I set out for an appointment with my dentist the other day.

A dental appointment, I thought, should be a sure shot for column material.

Well, I drove to the vicinity of my dentist's office, and after circling the block only five times, I found a parking space.

This parking space was ruled over by a parking meter which provided a maximum of 30 minutes parking per coin.

Thus, as I dropped my contribution to the city's welfare fund into the meter, I hoped that my dentist would be quick, as well as gentle.

But alas, such was not to be the case.

My dentist was gentle, as usual, but far from quick.

In fact, due to a little trouble with the patient preceding me, my dentist was almost 30 minutes late in even starting on me.

And it was not until I was chaired, bibbed, and needed that I remembered my automobile, sitting beside a 30-minute meter.

So visions of parking tickets danced in my head, and I was much upset.

Until the thought crossed my mind: Imagine the irony of getting a parking ticket as a reward for going to the dentist.

What I column that will make, I thought.

And so it would have, but I didn't get a ticket.

LOUIS VULLIEZ ... back to home town

YMCA Official Appointed To Winnipeg

Louis Vulliez, assistant physical director at Victoria YMCA for the past two years, has left here to take up the appointment of physical director of the St. Vital branch, Winnipeg.

The position he has just left was his first since graduating in Chicago.

In going to Winnipeg, Louis—single—will be returning to his home town.

An announcement will be made as soon as a replacement is named, a YMCA spokesman said today.

Second Look At Bridge Rebuilding

Saanich finance committee is taking another look at plans for the widening of Gorge Bridge, scheduled for reconstruction this year.

Council approved the project earlier this year to ease the flow of inter-municipal traffic.

Committee chairman George Austin said today it might be necessary to modify the original reconstruction plan because costs are much higher than estimated.

OVER $20,000

"Council set aside a budget of $10,000 for its reconstruction," he said, "but we have since found out that the project will cost over $20,000 as planned."

Mr. Austin said the project would be discussed at a finance committee meeting to be held next week.

Meanwhile, Saanich in the near future plans to go ahead with its plan to install street lights along the newly constructed portion of Quadra from the city boundary at Tolmie to Stoba.

Starting Pistol Stolen From Car

Guns and ammunition with a total value of more than $165 were reported to police as stolen from separate areas Tuesday.

Bob Hutchison, 2118 Allenby, said while his car was parked in a lot at the foot of Fort, someone took a .32 calibre starting pistol and a part box of blank ammunition from the glove compartment.

The RCMP said a person took a $15.22 lever action rifle, a 30-30 Winchester valued at $60, an $80 16-gauge shotgun, 1½ boxes of 12-gauge shells valued at $5.70, a box of 16-gauge shells worth $2.90 and $1 worth of .22 ammunition from the home of Ross Modeste, Koksilah.

Stationery Man On the Move Past Six Lights

Vancouver stationery salesman Allister Morrison may be stationary for a month after losing his driver's licence in city police court today.

Magistrate William Ostler said he would recommend a month's suspension when he fined Morrison $40 for careless driving.

The accused drove through six red traffic lights between Herald and View streets on Douglas at 4 a.m., court was told.

"I was lost at the time and I was looking for my motel. I didn't see the lights," Morrison told the court.

"A person who is as lost as that shouldn't be driving at all," the magistrate observed.

"I earn my living driving your honor, I'm a stationery salesman."

"No one would ever guess it. You'll have to make some other arrangements," Mr. Ostler told the accused.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Richard Leslie Lampman, no fixed address, pleaded guilty in city police court today to two charges of obtaining cash and goods by false pretences with worthless cheques.

He pleaded not guilty to a third charge of using a worthless cheque to get goods of more than $50 value and was remanded to Aug. 11 for trial on this, and to Aug. 12 for probation report and sentence on the others.

Police say Lampman got $10 cash from King Television and Radio Ltd., 1672 Douglas, by presenting a worthless cheque, and a $24.95 battery from Victoria Super Service Station, 1400 Blanshard, by the same means.

The third charge concerns a deal allegedly made with Midtown Auto Sales Ltd., 837 Yates. All occurred in June.

Cafe worker Jean Murch, 26, of 1780 Egerton, was treated for scalds to both forearms after a coffee-making unit flooded at 10:15 a.m. Tuesday.

Police ambulance took the woman to St. Joseph's Hospital from Poodle Dog Cafe. She was not admitted.

Victoria High School musician Bruce Dunn, 4080 Braefoot, has won a $75 scholarship while attending the summer school of music at University of B.C., it was announced today.

A member of Victoria High School band, Greater Victoria Schools Orchestra and a student member of the Victoria Symphony Orchestra, the Grade 11 student plays the French horn.

Also among 42 bursary winners at the music school are Victorians Robert Jones and Renee Poisson.

Annual garden party of Victoria Chapter Multiple Sclerosis Society will be held Saturday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Morgan, 729 Pemberton Road.

In addition to Multiple Sclerosis patients, all handicapped persons in the Greater Victoria area are invited to attend.

Beginning at 2:30 p.m. the party will feature the RCN band plus the accordion band of Jerry Inglis.

A prowler who entered his home by way of a broken window stole a gold wrist watch valued at $110, W. H. Jensen, 3171 Woodburn, told Oak Bay police Tuesday.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today: Jaswant Singh Dhillon, 582 John, $15; Elizabeth M. Rey, 3963 Quadra, $15, for making an illegal left turn.

Charles B. McLeod, 27 San Jose, $15 for failing to stop at a stop line.

Adolph Jeroski, Vancouver, $35; Lenora Pantan, 2114 Central, $35, for careless driving.

Rita Mary Norbury, 3408 Veteran, $25 for driving without a licence.

Dale Floyd Ashton, 1785 Empress, $10 for driving through a red light.

Robert James Harding, 813 Cook, $35 and recommended for day driving only, for careless driving.

Richard Leslie Lampman, no fixed address, $15 for speeding over 30 and $25 for driving without a licence.

In city police court Tuesday: Vergil H. Brawner, 930 Tulip, previously fined for careless driving, restricted to business driving only for three months.

In Sooke juvenile court, Tuesday:

A 17-year-old boy, $10 for speeding over 50.

A police traffic department's detour sign was ruled inadequate according to bylaw provisions and a charge of disobeying the sign was dismissed in city police court today.

Alice M. Dixon, 2655 Belmont, pleaded not guilty to driving past a sign erected at Hillside and Grosvenor where fire hose was laid across the pavement.

The sign read "detour" and pointed off Hillside to Grosvenor for west-bound traffic. Nearby was a motorcycle policeman, who stopped the accused 70-80 feet past the sign.

According to the charge, the woman drove past a sign reading "detour, police," for which the bylaw provides.

Aside from this, however, Magistrate William Ostler doubted validity of the bylaw in view of Motor Vehicle Act provisions.

Three-year-old Diana Slater, of Saturna Island, is in good condition with head cuts at Jubilee Hospital, today after tumbling from a moving car Tuesday on West Saanich Road.

She was a passenger in a car driven by Mrs. Lloyd Ritter, Alberni, who was on her way to the Saturna ferry at Swartz Bay.

Diana was the second small child in a week to tumble from a car.

OLD WEST SIDE SADDLE TURNS UP 'For Respectable Cowgirls'

BY JOHN MIKA

A rare western side saddle—made for "respectable cowgirls" of the old West—is up for sale here but may wind up in a prairie museum.

"It definitely is rare," said saddlery shop owner Bob Shanks today.

"There are, comparatively, lots of English style side saddles around here but I've only seen a western type once before, in Spokane, and many persons I've told about it didn't believe me."

60 YEARS OLD

The saddle weighs about 30 pounds and is about 60 years old. It is in good shape despite the fact that it has been gathering dust for some 30 years.

It was made for a young Prairie school teacher who rode from her lodgings to a rural school each day. Maker was the Walker and Wegener firm of San Francisco, which still is in business today.

It has the customary deep western saddle seat with two odd-shaped hooks in place of the horn. The left leg goes under one and the right leg goes over the other. A single stirrup is fixed to the left side and a leather-covered handle, for assistance in mounting and dismounting, is fixed to the right side along with a built-in purse.

HAD OFFER

A traditional basket-weave pattern decorates the leatherwork.

Mr. Shanks said he already has had an offer for the unusual saddle but has written to the University of Saskatchewan in case one of the prairie museums of pioneer life may wish to purchase it.

DEAR ABBY

You Can't Dearie!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have been in my friendship and my husband, stamped envelope in love with a married man for three years. Last summer he separated from his wife, but they continue to operate a business together.

Recently I have begun to suspect he is seeing her for other than business reasons. How can I get him out of business with her so he will have no excuse to continue seeing her?

LOVE THREATENED

DEAR THREATENED: When this married man was romancing you, did he need an "excuse" to see you? If he wants to see his wife, you can't stop him. There always seems to be one woman too many in this man's life. Right now that woman could be you.

DEAR ABBY: I am not the kind of neighbor who "reports" things, but if anything serious happened I'd never be able to forgive myself.

There are two little boys who live near me. They are 9 and 10. They make fires and pour gasoline on the fire to watch it blaze. This goes on every time their parents go out and leave them alone. I have seen it many times. Abby, if I were to tell their parents, I would be told to mind my own business. I have heard them tell other people this. They never believe a thing they hear about their boys. I'd hate to see those kids burn themselves up. How should I handle this without getting myself involved?

NO THANKS

DEAR NO THANKS: The next time you see the boys starting a fire, call the fire department and let it "handle the matter." Don't worry about getting involved.

DEAR ABBY: I'd like to comment on the letter written by the woman who signed herself "CLEANED OUT." She should be happy she has a friend who only wanted her friendship and her candy.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

This Marathon 'Winner' Counted Calories With Mate

Here is another exciting letter from a Marathon winner. Trying to figure out ways to lose more room in them. My dresses have been taken in THREE times and are now discarded for new, smaller ones.

"Women who have only a few pounds to lose are lucky! Eighty-seven pounds is an awful load to be carrying around. My husband has been a great help. He dieted with me and lost 30 pounds. We counted calories together. . . Bless him! He is so pleased I'm slimming down and has been a great help. We have three children, the oldest 19 and the youngest four.

Josephine

"Dear Mrs. Lowman: I am 5 feet 5 inches tall and 39 years old. Last January I sent for your Marathon booklet and started on Marathon February first. I weighed 227 pounds at that time! I was so self-conscious! Now 11 weeks later I have lost 42 pounds and weigh 185. I have a big build and nobody believes I weigh as much as I do. I am going to continue until I reach 140 pounds. I can feel my confidence coming back with each pound I shed. I have been overweight for 20 years (ever since my first pregnancy) and thought I was doomed to be fat for the rest of my life. I've tried diets before but just couldn't stick to them. It's such a thrill to be taking my clothes IN instead of trying to figure out ways to get more room in them. My dresses have been taken in THREE times and are now discarded for new, smaller ones.

"Thank you so much for giving me that 'gentle nudge' I needed to get started doing what I should have done 20 years ago."

The lesson in this letter is—don't blame it on having children and it can be done! I do not know why so many husbands and wives don't count calories together. It has been my observation that many overweight husbands like slim wives!

If you would like to lose from 15 to 20 pounds in the next eight weeks you may want my Marathon booklet. Send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

PRESTON, Ont. (CP)—Irene Kimple was married to Arnold J. Pells of Hespeler at St. Clement's Roman Catholic Church in this town near Kitchener. Her parents were wed in the same church 50 years earlier.

The attractive dark-haired bride entered the church on her father's arm. She wore a full-length gown of imported lace and net posed over white satin. The basque bodice was enhanced by a tiny collar embroidered with seed pearls and sequins. Waistline dipped to a V in front and back accentuating the hooped skirt. Her finger-tip veil of illusion net was held by a tiara of sequins and pearls. She wore a gold locket belonging to her late maternal grandmother as "something old," and she carried red roses and stephanotis. Bolero gowns of coral or ganza were worn by matron of honor, Mrs. Colin Tyler, and bridesmaid, Miss Nancy Williscroft. Another bridesmaid, Miss Dorothy Williscroft, wore Wedgwood blue organza. All had white feather hats and carried cascade bouquets of white carnations.

Colin Tyler was best man and Ervin Robinson and Roy Ekstrom ushered. Uncle of the bride, Frank Williscroft, sang "Because" during signing of the register.

The bride's table at a reception in Olde England Inn was centred with a three-tier wedding cake, made and decorated by the bride's mother. Toast to the bride was given by her uncle, William Dudley, Jr. Serviteurs were Mrs. F. Williscroft, Mrs. James Foster, Mrs. George Williscroft, Mrs. William Dudley, Jr., and Mrs. E. Robinson. Older Women Should Check On Modern Hair Styles

In this day of really lovely hair tint shades, there isn't much excuse for mousey grey hair streaked with yellow. None of us, I think, really has an aversion to age. But almost all of us have an aversion to its trappings. And these include grey hair.

Unless you're lucky enough to possess that lovely, silvery grey hair which is a mark of beauty in itself, do something about your hair. If you don't want to switch back to a color, you needn't. You can keep your grey hair. But ask your beauty operator to give you a silvery rinse when you have your hair done.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Nicholls in the garden of their Selkirk Avenue home on the Gorge.

Golden Wedding Party

The large family home of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Nicholls at 920 Selkirk Avenue is humming with activity and preparations this week, for on Saturday afternoon, the well-known couple are celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Nicholls and her two daughters-in-law, Mrs. O. Nicholls and Mrs. C. Nicholls, are busy baking delicious goodies for an "at home" from 2 to 6 p.m. at which time their friends will drop in for tea and maybe a taste of Mrs. Nicholls' delicious cream puffs.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholls were married in Wakefield Cathedral, Yorkshire, England, Aug. 9, 1910.

Mr. Nicholls is sure it was Aug. 10, so the couple celebrate the anniversary on both days. "It saves argument," laughs Mrs. Nicholls.

Fifteen years later on the recommendation of Mrs. Nicholls' parents, who emigrated to Canada several days after her marriage and pioneered at Coombs, V.I., the couple came to British Columbia.

They settled in Nanaimo. There, Mr. Nicholls, a graduate mining engineer of Sheffield University, held the position of "fire boss" at the mines. Spare time he distributed between Vancouver Island Chamber of Mines, of which he was president for many years, the Nanaimo General Hospital Board, which he also headed, and as long-time member and president of the B.C. Hospitals Association.

His wife adds proudly, "Dad's a great gardener, too—that's his hobby."

BUSY LIFE
Mrs. Nicholls' life has by no means been inactive, either. Besides being the mother of two sons, Owen Nicholls and Cedric Nicholls, who both live in Victoria with their families, she was owner and operator of a Victoria bakery (where her cream puffs won fame), and is now a member of Victoria branch, Local Council of Women; Women's Auxiliary, Royal Jubilee Hospital and Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club.

When Mr. and Mrs. Nicholls came to Victoria 21 years ago, Mr. Nicholls was on staff of the Unemployment Insurance Commission, a position he held until his retirement. The couple have two grandchildren.

Coming from out-of-town for the "open house" Saturday will be Mrs. Nicholls' brother-in-law and sister, Reeve Stanley D. Collier and Mrs. Collier, West Vancouver, and another sister, Mrs. G. M. Scott, Nanaimo.

According to the Thistlethwaites, Mexico City itself has grown considerably since their marriage 38 years ago. "I'd say now there's an approximate population of four-and-a-half million," says Mr. Thistlethwaite.

Because of the altitude, 7,500 feet, people in Mexico eat their meals at very odd hours. "It's difficult to digest meals at that altitude," explains Mrs. Thistlethwaite.

"For instance," she continues, "we have breakfast when we get up, but lunch could be anytime from two to five in the afternoon. It's quite common to even arrange a luncheon date for 3 o'clock."

She went on to say that they rarely eat dinner before 10 in the evening. "If we are planning to go out—we usually have our meal when we get home!"

The Thistlethwaites are keen on the foods of Mexico. "We like a native dish," says Mrs. Thistlethwaite "it perks up a meal."

Here's one idea she gave me for a delightfully different appetizer.

The name itself is tempting—guacamali. Take two avocados and mash meat fine; two tomatoes, cut out seeds and chop fine; add three small green onions, salt to taste, and dried parsley. Serve as a dip or serve on crackers.

Sounds good, doesn't it?

Good Citizen to Live in Scotland

Members of the Women's Missionary Society of First United Church gathered Tuesday afternoon at the Watson Street home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Harrison, to honor Mrs. Margaret Morrison, who leaves Friday by air for Scotland, where she will make her future home.

Dr. R. M. Thompson and Dr. W. G. Wilson spoke briefly and Mrs. A. H. Sheard presented Mrs. Morrison with a gift from the 25 friends present.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with a cutwork cloth from Bangkok and centred with an arrangement of red carnations. Mrs. A. G. Bompas and Mrs. Sheard presided and assisting in service Mrs. J. Cruickshanks and Mrs. A. Wills.

Mrs. Morrison is well-known for her work amongst shut-ins in Victoria and she is one of a small group who received good citizenship awards during British Columbia's Centennial Year.

This friendly, smiling-eyed woman has been calling on patients in Victoria hospitals and nursing homes ever since she came here with her husband, the late William Morrison, in 1919. She has also visited shut-ins living in lonely rooms and apartments and has often taken them small gifts.

She will be greatly missed by these men and women for, as one shut-in has written of her: "She never tired of listening to other people's troubles." Mrs. Morrison goes to Scotland to be near a brother who lives there. She will fly to Prestwick, leaving here this Friday morning, and expects to make her new home near Glasgow.

Until her departure she is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Wilson at their home, 3640 Quadra Street.

Siamese 'Thai' Cures Blues At Totem Park

By JUDY NICHOLSON

Ever hear of a homesick cat? You haven't! Then meet Thai, handsome, well-groomed Siamese, owned by Mr. and Mrs. A. J. H. Thistlethwaite of Mexico City.

Thai is lonesome for his old stamping grounds back home and he doesn't like Victoria. His solace is walking—or stalking—in Thunderbird Park. Sight of totem poles seems to console him.

His owners, however, are looking at Victoria with kinder eyes and someday they may retire here. If they do, Thai will have to form a new allegiance—and not in Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Thistlethwaite and Thai—"you must include Thai as he's a member of the family," says Mrs. Thistlethwaite—are spending several months in the city and are staying at the Cathay Apartments. They're on a five-month tour of the United States and Western Canada.

"We are staying a longer time in Victoria to get the lay of the land and to fully understand the prospects in settling here," explains Mr. Thistlethwaite.

"We've almost made up our minds that this is where we'd like to live," adds his attractive wife.

THEY LIKE MEXICO

Mr. Thistlethwaite, who comes from Yorkshire, Eng., went to Mexico 33 years ago. "I liked it so much from the climatic point of view that, when I met my wife, who is from Wisconsin, we decided to spend part of our married life there."

According to the Thistlethwaites, Mexico City itself has grown considerably since their marriage 38 years ago. "I'd say now there's an approximate population of four-and-a-half million," says Mr. Thistlethwaite.

Because of the altitude, 7,500 feet, people in Mexico eat their meals at very odd hours. "It's difficult to digest meals at that altitude," explains Mrs. Thistlethwaite.

"For instance," she continues, "we have breakfast when we get up, but lunch could be anytime from two to five in the afternoon. It's quite common to even arrange a luncheon date for 3 o'clock."

She went on to say that they rarely eat dinner before 10 in the evening. "If we are planning to go out—we usually have our meal when we get home!"

The Thistlethwaites are keen on the foods of Mexico. "We like a native dish," says Mrs. Thistlethwaite "it perks up a meal."

Here's one idea she gave me for a delightfully different appetizer.

The name itself is tempting—guacamali. Take two avocados and mash meat fine; two tomatoes, cut out seeds and chop fine; add three small green onions, salt to taste, and dried parsley. Serve as a dip or serve on crackers.

Sounds good, doesn't it?

Senior attendants wore pea-cock blue nylon chiffon gowns with fitted bodices and cummerbunds. Headpieces were in tone and they carried white carnations. White nylon chiffon short-length frocks, the full skirts billowing over pink slips, were worn by the flower girls. They carried pink carnations.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Piton of Victoria, wore a full-length white organza gown, fitted at waist with insets of white taffeta. Scoop neckline was trimmed with lace and sequins and the bodice had lily point sleeves. Scallop-edged veil was shoulder length and pink roses and white stephanotis were in the bouquet. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Canon R. Willis officiated at the ceremony, in a floral setting created by baskets of white gladioli and arrangements of Esther Reid daisies.

Groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. George Foster of Swan River, Man. Clifford Schneider was best man and Harold Piton, Jr., and Glen Foster ushered. Ernie Locke proposed the toast at a reception, in Boilermakers' Hall, Esquimalt. Candles and flowers flanked the three-tier wedding cake.

White and turquoise were colors chosen by the new Mrs. Foster for travelling on honeymoon. Her white brocade sheath dress was complemented with a small turquoise hat. Out-of-town guests attending the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Kennedy and Mr. and Mrs. P. Curle of New Westminster and Mrs. Helen Townsend of Penticton, B.C.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

When Sunday's supper is to be a sandwich meal, prepare spiced peaches for a delicious accompaniment. Drain syrup from canned peach halves into saucepan, heat with a few whole spices and a dash of vinegar. Add peach halves and simmer five minutes. Let stand a few hours or overnight.

Milk shakes need not be loaded with calories. To make a cool, refreshing shake, freeze skim milk until icy in refrigerator tray. Combine with equal measure of apricot whole fruit nectar, and whiz it up on the electric blender. Add a bit of sugar and lemon juice if you wish. Low in calories, high in nutrition, for weight watchers.

For a party punch bowl, freeze a fruited ice ring. Drain canned fruit cocktail, saving syrup to go into the punch. Spoon fruit into ring mold, fill carefully with cold water and freeze solid. Unmold to float in punch.

SOLUTION FRIDAY

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia, and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times. Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Donna Howe, aged 13, of Peterborough, Ont., for her question:

How Does a Bird Digest His Food?

Two weeks ago, Andy wrote about the human digestive system. You know, then, that all the different foods we eat must be converted into simple chemicals. The body can use them only when they are broken down into amino acids, fatty acids and glucose sugar. They can be sent around to the body cells only in liquid form. In the animal world, food must also be broken down into these simple chemicals in liquid form. This is true for birds, bears and even for the humble earth worm.

The meat-eating mammals digest their foods more or less as we do. Some vegetarians, such as the cow, have a more complicated stomach and chew the cud. A bird, however, is usually a small, highly active animal. He could not take the time to chew the cud or even to digest a heavy meal. His digestive system must provide him with a constant supply of quick energy. Notice he is always on the go and always ready for a snack.

For the toothy mammals, digestion begins in the mouth. The food is chopped and mixed with liquid saliva. But birds do not have this digestive juice in the mouth, and in the bird world, teeth went out of fashion some 60 million years ago.

All birds swallow their food whole. When a woodpecker finds a grub in a tree trunk, down it goes in one gulp. A duck may take several gulps to swallow a frog, but he swallows it whole. A whippoorwill may wait until he has a mouthful of small insects before he gulps them down. An owl may tear his prey into pieces before he swallows it, gulping by gulping.

Storage Chamber Provided

In any case, the food goes down the bird's throat in a lump. The gizzard leads from the mouth to the stomach may have a small storage chamber called a crop. Earth worms and certain insects also have such a crop for storing much bigger and much food while the stomach is full.

The bird's main digestive organ is the gizzard. It is a phant that stand 13 feet at thick-walled bag with a very shoulder level and tip the tough lining. The walls are scale at six tons. Big as he strong muscles which pound is, this big Jumbo can move and plunger the food into mash and mix it with liquid digestive juices. Strong as it is, the gizzard is not strong enough to chomp up all the food eaten by the bird, especially when he dines on hard seeds.

Most birds swallow a few pebbles to help the gizzard grind up tough food. Perhaps you have heard that the ostrich will even swallow nails. This trick is not as silly as it may seem, nor will the nails or the pebbles be digested. The gizzard acts like a muscular fist and with a few sharp stones mixed with the food it can do a better grinding job.

Andy sends a Hammond's Nature Atlas of America to Jimmy Bailey, age 10, of Trinidad, Texas, for his question: What is the largest land animal?

The tallest land animal is home next day he took them the 19-foot giraffe. The ant to the coal bin, where the animal with the biggest mouth was hidden, and to a rear shed in the hippo. But the biggest containing the car tires.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

CHICAGO—Jack Benny recently went to Waukegan for a look at the old home town and the new high school. I impolitely asked him whether he had ever graduated.

"I was kicked out about the second year," Jack confessed. "I was playing with the orchestra, not studying. One day a teacher said, 'You're only interested in music—this isn't a music school—get out!'"

Jack paused and added, "And isn't it ironic in view of what happened that he laughed at me—actually laughed at me—when I said, 'Some day I'll finish?'"

JACK BENNY...no music school

THE MIDNIGHT EARL...

Nasser ok'd filming of back-grounds in Egypt for the movie "Cleopatra" (though pictures with the star, Liz Taylor, can't be shown there). . . . Opera star Dolores Wilson and her husband reconciled. . . . BBardot's ex-beau Sacha Distel, rapped by critics in his first film role, quit to become a producer. . . . David Merrick'll be Broadway's busiest producer next season with seven new shows. . . . Nerissa Nickel will co-star with Hal March in "Two for the Seesaw" in summer stock.

Deborah Kerr's setting up residence in Switzerland—it'll save taxes. . . . An L.A. restaurant calls itself "the poor man's Pooty Shore." . . . Pianist Errol Garner's planning a million-dollar damage suit against Columbia Records. . . . Hoop star Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain is putting his cage earnings into apt. houses.

DEBORAH KERR...Two for Seesaw

A B-way actor described his job: "Acting is pretending, and the most difficult part is pretending you're eating regularly." . . . Steve Reeves "Hercules" films will have grossed almost $40,000,000 by the end of '60.

EARL'S PEARLS: Summer is the time of year when those collapsible chairs you bought last winter finally do.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Bachelors are guys who don't marry because they're afraid of women—such as mothers-in-law.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: A woman's final decision is usually pretty much like the one that follows it. . . . That's earl, brother.

Earl Wilson

BUILT IN 1538

Famed Gorging Spot Of King Unearthed

LONDON (AP)—The sumptuous 16th-century banquet hall in the Palace of Nonsuch, where Henry VIII used to gorge himself, has been unearthed by a Cambridge University archeologist.

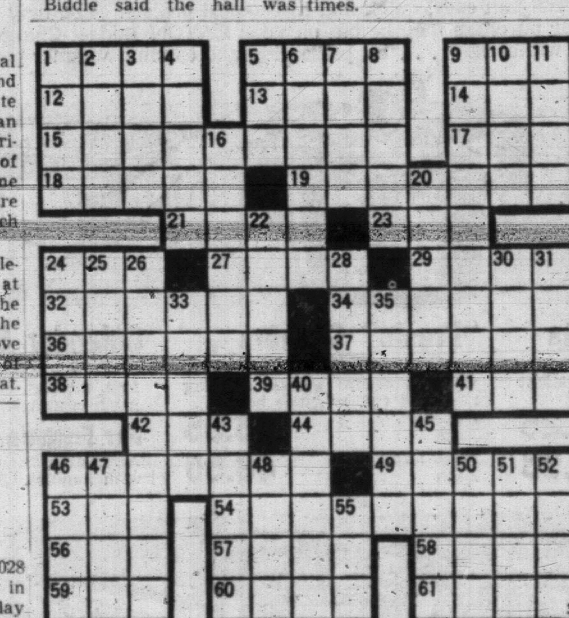

The much-married King Henry relaxed in the summer months at this palace, about 25 miles from London at Ewell in Surrey. He dined there and enjoyed the refreshments of his times.

The Palace of Nonsuch, demolished in 1687, was excavated last year. Now Martin Biddle, a young Cambridge scholar, has started digging up pieces of magnificently carved stone from the banquet hall's chimney.

Biddle said the hall was built in 1538. That was the 29th year of Henry's reign. The hall was 45 feet long and 32 feet wide. Tudor brickwork found by the excavators shows it was probably the earliest of its kind in the country.

A raised promenade was held by a wall and a balustrade. A carved lion of Continental workmanship, part of the coat of arms, is among the pieces of sculpture brought to light.

Queen Elizabeth I, daughter of Henry VIII, may also have used the banqueting hall. There is speculation over a delicately-fashioned dress ornament of twisted gold and coral that resembles paintings of the Queen. Elizabeth is known to have visited Nonsuch several times.

IN STOCK CAR RACE

Phil Gaglardi Vs Gil Philardi

NANAIMO—Phil Gaglardi and Gil Philardi will fight it out here Aug. 19 in a stock car race to be held in Grandview Bowl as part of the Vancouver Island Exhibition program.

There will be others in the race, but the spotlight will be on "Flying Phil" B.C.'s lead-footed minister of highways, and his near-double, a Victoria businessman who prefers to do his racing under a "nom de track."

Mr. Gaglardi will drive a car owned by "Red Devil" Burke. His alter ego, who started driving last year and has become a hot contender at the Victoria and Nanaimo stock car tracks, will drive his own car.

VANCOUVER ISLAND BRIEFS

Fishermen Burned In Boat Explosion

NANAIMO—Commercial fisherman Robert Hunt is being treated in Nanaimo General Hospital today for burns and shock suffered Tuesday when gasoline aboard his 30-foot boat exploded.

The accident occurred at 1.30 p.m. There were four more smaller explosions after Nanaimo Fire Department arrived on the scene, one of which threw a fireman into the water. He was not injured.

DUNCAN—Joseph Garner, Victoria, was fined $150 Tuesday in Duncan police court by Magistrate A. C. Sutton after conviction on a charge of impaired driving.

He also had his driver's licence suspended for 30 days. Defence counsel D. R. Williams served notice that the conviction will be appealed.

Arrest was made July 25 at 11 p.m., about two miles south of Duncan, after police received a complaint of erratic driving.

John Robert Chadwick, Duncan, said he had been forced to the shoulder of the road by a car similar to that of the accused, and RCMP Const. Reginald Wallace said Mr. Garner had driven completely off the right side of the road, then drove to the left side of the road with a truck approaching only 200 yards away.

DUNCAN—North Cowichan property owners will vote next month on three bylaws to extend the boundaries of three of the municipality's four fire protection districts.

Those concerned are Chemainus, Maple Bay, and the urban area adjacent to the northern boundary of Duncan. The latter will be the largest, and recommendations have been made by Fire Chief F. P. Clarkson, ratepayers' groups, and the B.C. Fire Marshal's office that it be made even larger.

PENDER ISLAND—The Legion branch here hosted the monthly meeting of the Victoria and District zone council of the Canadian Legion, held recently at Port Washington.

Visiting members were taken on a tour of the island. At the business meeting, a resolution was passed urging the provincial government to declare wives and widows of war veterans' allowance recipients.

Mayor Mabel Overruled By Aldermen

ALBERNI—A motion by Ald. Tom Barnett, rejected in city council here by Mayor Mabel Anderson, who said it had been written prior to the meeting and was against "parliamentary law," was passed in spite of her ruling.

Although Ald. Barnett said that during his five years in Parliament in Ottawa he found motions for the House had to be prepared and typewritten in advance, Mayor Anderson said her ruling "is in the book," and that the motion was out of order.

She was overruled, however, and council passed Ald. Barnett's motion. It concerned arrangements under way for joint operation of a pound with Port Alberni.

Rites—Thursday For Dairyman

Funeral services will be held Thursday in First Funeral Chapel, Duncan, for J. M. Groenewold, 58, of Cowichan Station, well-known dairy farmer, who came to this district from Holland in 1933.

He died in King's Daughters' Hospital Tuesday after a long illness.

Surviving, besides the widow, Jacobie, are eight sons, six daughters and 19 grandchildren.

SPECIAL PERMISSION GRANTED

All-Out Hunt for Monster

Hooks will be set once again for the Cowichan Lake monster. Major Curtis Watson, Victoria, has been granted special permission to fish with set lines for the denizen which was hooked by 82-year-old Abe Johnson of Mesachie Lake.

Mr. Johnson and George Gunn, who also lives at the lake, will assist Major Watson in his effort to land the mysterious beast.

Major Watson, who spends much of the year at his Cowichan Lake fishing camp, will use 700 feet of cable, 250 feet of ½-inch manila rope, and halibut hooks baited with pork and rind.

Mr. Johnson first reported having a huge and powerful "something" on his set line last October. In March he was told by fish and game branch officials that he was fishing contrary to regulations, and was advised to secure a special permit. Sickness, however, prevented him from going ahead with his plans.

POLITICAL BUSTLE

E-Day Call Yes or No?

Strachan Has Doubts

The signs all point to Kelowna today, and Premier Bennett's "E-Day."

Last minute Social Credit nominations added to the bustle about provincial politics which flared after the premier's elections hints in Vancouver Monday.

Today he just about clinched that he will announce his election in Kelowna tonight.

"I will have an important announcement to make tonight," he said in Kelowna.

The date—which Mr. Bennett may withhold—is expected to be on or near Sept. 19.

The lone dissenter in the election atmosphere here which is pervading the capital today is Opposition leader Robert Strachan.

"I don't think he will, and I don't think he should announce the date tonight, said the CCF leader.

SO ARROGANT

"I can't believe that any premier of this province would be so arrogant as to make the announcement at a political meeting."

The premier will be nominated tonight for his South Okanagan constituency of which Kelowna is the "capital."

This afternoon he and Mrs. Bennett are hosting a giant garden party at their Kelowna home.

Mrs. Bennett told the Times she expected as many as 1,000 guests.

"I haven't got it," she answered when quizzed about the election date.

LAST TO KNOW

"I am the last person to know. That's the way I want it, too. Then I don't have to tell any fibs."

With the premier in Kelowna are three of his cabinet "old guard"—Attorney-General Robert Bonner, Highways Minister Phil Gaglardi and Works Minister W. N. Chant.

Others are expected tonight. Only two cabinet ministers were in Victoria—Forests Minister Williston and Recreation Minister Westwood.

Adding fuel to the election fire today was disclosure of a "secret" cabinet meeting here Monday.

Only four members were present.

One of them had told the Times there was no meeting. But a routine signed order-in-council appeared out of that meeting today.

Another order about the election could be in someone's pocket.

Two top Socials nominated Tuesday night were Labor Minister Lyle Wicks in Dewdney and Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan in Chilliwack.

So far the Social Credit party has put 28 candidates in the field. The Liberals have an equal number, the CCF 41 and the Conservatives 45.

Polling date must be at least 38 days after the election writ is issued.

Highways Minister Gaglardi predicted at Mr. Wicks' nominating convention in Haney that the forthcoming campaign would be "dirty."

He warned Social Crediters to expect the most vindictive criticism the party has ever faced.

He said the criticism would come from labor leaders, but didn't elaborate.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

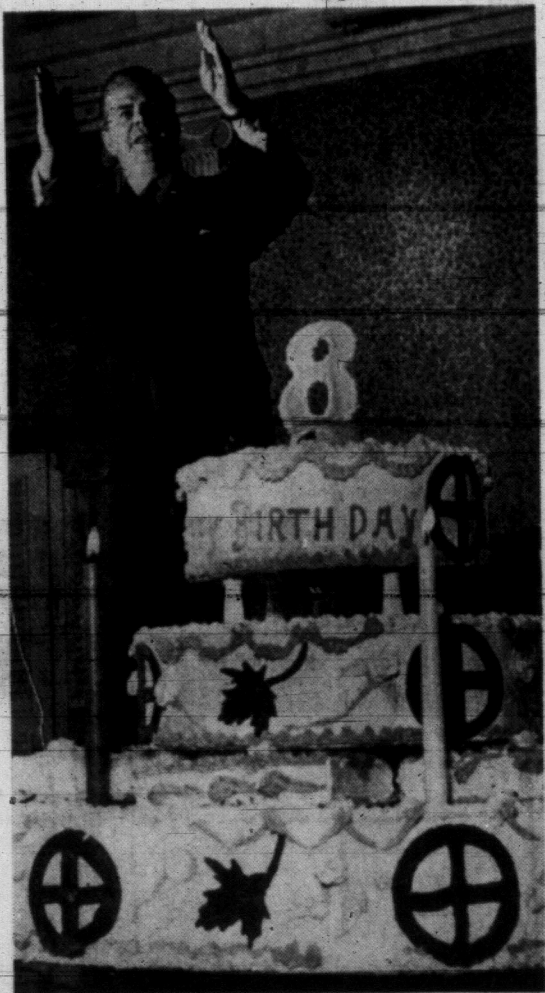

O Lord, Who hast given us eyes to see and a mind to know, grant us grace to learn the secrets of this marvelous universe. Save us from the temptations that blind us to Thy presence. Open our ears to hear Thy voice speaking to us, for Thou art more wonderful than Thy works and the source of all our truth; in Christ's name. Amen.

QUEBEC A-G TO PROBE 'VOTE SELLING'

QUEBEC (CP) — Georges Lapalme, attorney-general of Quebec, has ordered an investigation of election-day incidents reported by Cathie Breslin in a copyright article in Maclean's magazine entitled "I Sold My Vote—Twenty Times."

BILL OF RIGHTS

Social Security Amendment Out

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons by a 60-19 vote today defeated a Liberal amendment to the Bill of Rights which would have declared every Canadian has an inalienable right to social security benefits.

Opposition leader Pearson and Paul Martin (L., Essex East) quoted Prime Minister Diefenbaker as saying in 1947 that a Bill of Rights should ensure "educational, property and social security rights," but these were not in the bill now before Parliament.

Mr. Diefenbaker said that in 1947 he spoke of these subjects to be included in a draft bill which he suggested should be referred to the Supreme Court for a decision of constitutionality.

They clearly involved provincial rights, and the government now is only proposing a Bill of Rights in the federal field of jurisdiction as a first step, he said.

OTTAWA (CP) — The senate banking committee decided today to ask Ottawa representatives of national organizations whether they want to make representations on proposed government amendments to the Anti-Combines Act.

HUMIDITY RISES

Fire Threat Easing Off

Lightning in the Kamloops district today is the major forest fire threat, but the hazard is easing in other parts of the province.

In the Nelson district, rain fell for the second day Tuesday, reducing the hazard to "moderate," the forest service said.

The hazard remains "high to extreme" in the Vancouver Island and coastal mainland district, but overcast skies and high relative humidity have eased the general situation. Only three small new fires were reported overnight.

21 FIRES

There are 21 fires burning in the district.

In the last three days lightning is blamed for 92 Kamloops district blazes.

There were 40 new ones overnight.

The three big ones, all over 10,000 acres, at Lac le Jeune, Allan Creek and Spius Creek, are all moderately under control, says the forest service.

About 470 fires were burning in B.C. forests Tuesday. They were being battled by upwards of 4,500 men, 246 bulldozers and 27 aircraft at a cost of $120,000 a day—not including the loss of millions of dollars worth of fir, spruce, white and jack pine and cedar.

A plea for more equipment for the Prince George district, free of major fires until lightning struck a couple of days ago, was answered Tuesday and four additional aircraft were put into action against fires in the northeast today.

Quits After Month

DID TONY SCRAP WITH THE BUTLER?

LONDON (Reuters) — Princess Margaret's butler has left after only a month in her service. There were hints today that he had a row with Antony Armstrong-Jones, the princess' husband.

The butler, silver-haired Thomas Cronin, moved out of Kensington Palace, Margaret's London home, Tuesday. Newspapers and observers of royal society immediately started guessing about the reason for his departure but no one was saying anything, least of all Cronin himself.

Asked if he had a row with Armstrong-Jones, Cronin said: "I must say 'no comment.' You do understand my position."

Cronin appeared stunned that reporters had heard of his departure and tracked him down in his room at Nottingham Hill, a district near Kensington Palace.

"It is quite unfortunate that my move should be known," he said. "I would much prefer, and I am sure the palace likewise, that this should pass quietly. Whatever, if anything, the palace says, I am sure it will be accurate. Only in extreme circumstances would I contradict it."

"I can say it has been a delightful privilege to serve Her Royal Highness. She is very gracious and I am extremely proud to have been of service."

Cronin said: "I have been a good butler for 30 years. I do not anticipate difficulty in obtaining another post."

NORAD EXERCISE

Air Routes Cleared

OTTAWA (UPI) — Transport Minister George Hees today ordered all civilian aircraft to keep out of Canadian airspace from 2 a.m. to 8 a.m. EDT Sept. 10 to make way for a NORAD exercise.

Hees said in a prepared statement he hoped air carriers and the travelling public will appreciate the necessity for safety measures during the defense exercise and will co-operate in rearranging their schedules.

NORAD is the organization entrusted with the task of repelling any attack by hostile bombers.

Will Move In On Saturday

ELISABETHVILLE, The Congo (AP) — Katanga's Premier Moise Tshombe said today his government would use force to oppose the entry into his rich mining province of United Nations troops, scheduled to begin Saturday.

"They will have to fight their way in," Tshombe told newspaper men after hearing a broadcast of UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld's announcement that UN forces would take over from Belgian troops keeping order in the rich mining province in the southeast Congo.

Tshombe said his government has ordered mobilization of all able-bodied men in the province. He said he has support of tribal chiefs in the decision to oppose entry of UN troops.

In Leopoldville, a UN spokesman declared the troops will enter Katanga regardless of the provincial regime's stand.

"Katanga troops will not fire first, and we do not intend any aggression," said Tshombe, whose government has declared Katanga's independence of Premier Patrice Lumumba's central Congo government.

"But if UN troops try to land here, that will be an act of aggression and we will oppose it."

The premier said he had not been officially informed of the decision to send UN troops to Katanga, announced in Leopoldville Tuesday night by

'WE'LL FIGHT TO FINISH'

TUNIS, Tunisia (UPI) — Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba flew into Tunisia today and announced "we will fight to the last drop of our blood" to preserve the territorial integrity of his country. Lumumba made the statement on his arrival from London, en route back to the Congo from the United States. He repeated attacks on Belgium, accusing it of "barbaric aggression," and demanded "immediate withdrawal of Belgian troops from the Congo."

Hammarskjöld after the Belgian government agreed to pull its troops in Katanga back to their base camp. Tshombe said he also had no notification from the Belgians of their change of heart.

However, Tshombe said he would welcome the arrival of UN undersecretary Ralph J. Bunche, being sent by Hammarskjöld to Elisabethville Friday to arrange the entry of the UN troops. The premier said he wanted to discuss his government's position with Bunche.

'Would Have to Kill Every Soldier'

In Paris, Finance Minister Jean Kibwe, who is heading a delegation to gain support for Katanga's independence, asserted Tuesday that if UN troops entered the seceded province it would be "a declaration of war and the UN troops would have to kill every soldier in Katanga."

The UN announcement stunned the white population of Elisabethville, which had returned to normal pursuits under the protection of the Belgian troops. But despite earlier talk of a mass flight when UN troops were ordered in, there was no sign today of any exodus.

"It seems most of them will wait to see what happens when UN troops arrive," a Belgian official said.

It seemed possible the whites might stay if the UN sent white troops to Katanga. But the arrival of non-white troops would cause great consternation.

Mass departure of the 15,000 Belgian civilians in Katanga would bring a quick shutdown of the province's copper and uranium mines, the Congo's economic mainstay, and would bring Katanga to the state of economic paralysis now afflicting the rest of the country.

In Brussels, Belgian Foreign Minister Pierre Wigny said Belgium would take "no sides" in the dispute over Katanga.

The problem must be settled by the Congolese themselves, he said in a country-wide radio hookup. "Belgium refuses to interfere with internal matters."

Should Be in Control by Next Week

Hammarskjöld predicted that by the beginning of next week, or about two weeks after the security council's second call for Belgian withdrawal, UN troops would be "in control of the security of the whole territory of the Congo."

He reported that the UN now has more than 11,000 troops in the Congo, deployed throughout the vast territory with the exception of Katanga.

"All Belgian troops have been withdrawn from all regions of the territory where troops of the United Nations now are stationed," he said.

A difference of opinion was reported on the racial makeup of the force to be sent to Katanga. Congolese Justice Minister Remey Mwamba said the UN command wanted to send in white troops—presumably the Irish battalion on duty in Kivu province. Mwamba indicated his government wants Negro troops.

Hammarskjöld postponed his departure for South Africa

a second time. He had been scheduled to leave today. His new departure date was uncertain.

Congolese Premier Lumumba headed back by Russian airliner from his aid-seeking mission to the United States and Canada. En route home he planned stops in Tunisia, Morocco, Guinea, Liberia and Ghana.

Pausing in London Lumumba accused the Brussels government of encouraging Katanga to break away from the Congo.

"They are trying to use Mr. Tshombe and his colleagues as a mere instrument to continue the positions they occupied previously in the Congo," he told reporters.

Belgium Tuesday began flying home 1,500 troops from the Kamaina base, which is in Katanga. Completion of the movement will leave about 8,500 Belgian soldiers in the Congo. The Belgian government indicated again Tuesday night it would bring these home when UN forces could assure order in the Congo.

FLEES CUBA IN 17-FOOT BOAT TO FLORIDA

Castro Aid Asks Asylum

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI) — Raul Chibas, Cuba's railroad commissioner and ex-treasurer of the Fidel Castro revolution, landed at Key West late Tuesday and asked for political asylum.

Chibas, a middle-aged former military academy professor, arrived with his wife in a 17-foot boat. He was taken into custody by U.S. immigration authorities.

No immediate reason was given for Chibas' split from the Castro regime, but associates in Miami said he had been growing discontented with the Cuban government.

Maj. Pedro Diaz Lanz, former Cuban air force chief, said when he talked to Chibas last summer "he knew Fidel was a Communist then, but he said he would stick around for awhile."

Chibas fled Cuba during the reign of Fulgencia Batista and joined Raul Castro in raising funds for the revolution here and in New York. After Castro's forces began fighting in the Sierra Maestras, Diaz Lanz flew here and took Chibas back to join Castro.

Associates said Castro offered Chibas the prime minister's job after the revolution but he turned it down for the railroad post.

When 16 oil companies bid more than $3,000,000 for petroleum and natural gas rights in B.C. last week there was a tendency to ask 'why?'

Many people did. Currently, oil, gas and pipeline stocks have been so low it hasn't been difficult for investors to turn away from them.

There is a glut of oil on the world market. Competition has been fierce. Price-cutting has been rampant. Natural gas, widely accepted in western Canada, has not been making the inroads anticipated in Ontario and Quebec.

How then can bids exceeding $3 million be justified? Research indicates a three-fold answer:

1. Four major companies report a better earnings picture in the first half of 1960 over the same period in 1959;

2. Oil companies have such substantial investments tied up in existing operations they cannot consider the short-term outlook but must take a long-range view; and,

3. If an oil company doesn't pick up potentially lush land, drilling and exploration permits, there are any number of competing firms ready to grab them.

LABOR STRIFE

Major Threat To Province
VANCOUVER (CP)—The greatest threat to B.C.'s future prosperity is disharmony in labor-management relations, the president of the B.C. Chamber of Commerce said Tuesday.

"Whether we like it or not we have the reputation, both nationally and internationally, of having unreliable and costly labor forces," Maurice Finerty told the Rotary Club.

"We have also the reputation of being unable to settle our labor-management differences without resorting to costly strikes."

"It's a simple matter to measure these economic losses in terms of lost wages for the worker, lost productivity, lost taxes for the government and lost profit for the investor."

"Only recently, with the increased competition from the economic development of Europe and Asia, have we begun to think in terms of our other losses. Investment capital that didn't arrive, new industries that went nowhere else, new jobs that were not created."

HOW YOUR LIVER BILE HELPS BREAK DOWN FATS

IN THE DIGESTIVE TRACT
Laboratory tests have now proved that liver bile emulsifies fats, actually breaks them down. It is an established fact that when liver bile is added to fatty solids, the fats are broken down and form a smooth, easy-flowing mix.

In your digestive tract, liver bile helps break down fats the same way. Many of the foods you eat reach the digestive tract as undigested fat solids. Your golden liver bile helps break down these fats, for easier and more complete digestion.

Carter's Little Liver Pills' exclusive formula of vegetable ingredients relieves irregularity gently and effectively. At the same time, it actually improves the flow of liver bile needed to break down fats in your digestive tract.

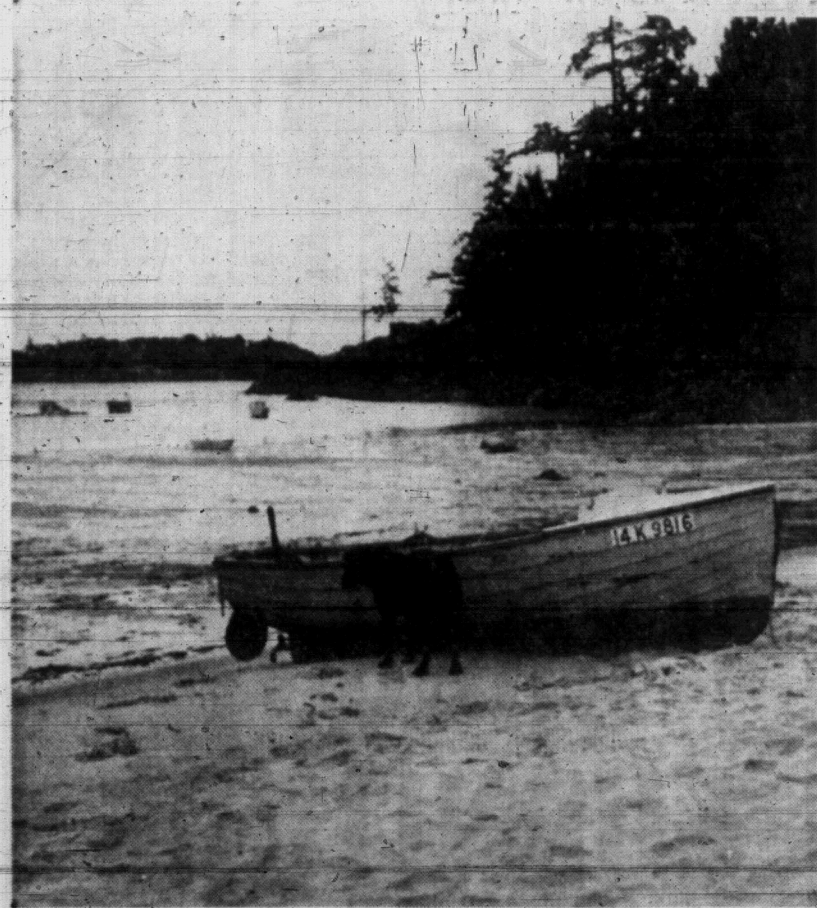

So when you feel sluggish, head-achy, nervous and need a laxative, take Carter's Little Liver Pills. Remember, Carter's not only relieves irregularity, but actually improves the flow of liver bile. Get Carter's Little Liver Pills today!

LEFT ALONE Tuesday night when his master drowned, dog maintains guard over boat at Weir's Beach. Gail Cooper, 11, of 772 Monterey, has been able to feed it and give it water, but dog won't permit anyone else near boat. The black Labrador has stayed with boat continuously since tragedy.

Faithful Dog Refuses to End Boat Vigil As Navy Diving Team Hunts for Master's Body

A seven-man team of navy divers today searched unsuccessfully for the body of an elderly man who slipped from a 12-foot boat and drowned Tuesday evening off shore from Weir's beach.

Although RCMP have a commercial fishing licence found in the boat, with the registration number of the boat he was using—14K 9816—they feel identification is not sufficiently positive to release the name of the man.

SOOKE

It is believed he is a Sooke resident.

The tragedy was noted when a Victoria yachtsman, Arthur J. Cox, 160 Eberts, investigated a drifting boat in which a large black dog was the only sign of life.

As he approached he could see the body of a man hanging head down in the water with his foot hooked around an oarlock and apparently dead.

The dog would let no one near to pull the body from the water. Efforts made to raise it were unsuccessful, and it slipped from the boat and sank.

Mr. Cox took the boat to fishermen near shore, then stood by at the point where the body was lost pending arrival of police.

It was believed the victim had fallen out of the boat, but with his leg caught was unable to climb back.

He was last seen alive by Rae McDonald, 2941 Ilene Terrace, and Philip Beattie, 2113 Foul Bay Road, who remarked that it was unusual to see a fisherman with such a large dog in a boat.

Mr. Cox reported finding the body at 7:30 p.m.

Four RCN divers started a search Tuesday night, but were forced to give up at 10 p.m. Today's party, led by

Lieut. J. G. Colwill, started searching at 8 a.m.

Although the depth of from 60 to 70 feet is considered moderate, divers are hampered by a three-knot current and can stay below only from 20 to 30 minutes at a stretch. Visibility is poor, and authorities are not hopeful of recovering the body within the next few hours.

The dog continues to stand guard at the boat and attacks anyone coming near. It has been reported that the boat had been kept at Pedder Bay.

B.C. Lags Far Behind In City Road Grants

Victoria, Vancouver Unhappy

A Vancouver City delegation seeking more road grants, and a niggardly provincial showing in a national survey both arrived here at the same time to plague the B.C. cabinet today.

The Vancouver group was to ask the cabinet for a larger grant than the $350,000 allocated to the city by the province this year with certain strings attached.

To qualify for the money, it must be matched from civic coffers and spent on roads approved by the province.

Victoria City Hall officials, who weren't too happy with the $68,000 grant offered the city, will be watching the outcome of the cabinet meeting with special interest.

TOO SMALL

The municipal objections are that the grants are too small in relation to the problem of maintaining arterial roads that connect with highways and that they should be unconditional.

The national survey, compiled by the non-profit Canadian Tax Foundation, showed B.C. was far behind the western provinces and most of the nation in sharing its road users revenue with municipalities.

MANITOBA TOPS

Most generous province is Manitoba, which in the 1958-59 fiscal year gave 27.7 per cent of its revenue from vehicle licences and gasoline tax back to municipalities in the form of road grants.

British Columbia gave its municipalities only half of one per cent—$190,000 out of a total $40,872,000 revenue.

Saskatchewan's road grants represented 21.3 per cent of revenue. Alberta's grants were 13.1 per cent and Ontario's grants were 26.3 per cent.

Only Nova Scotia, which gave none, and Prince Edward Island, which gave 4 per cent, were more niggardly with their municipalities than B.C.

NAVAL SHIP MOVEMENTS

ASK THE TIMES

Q. Will you give me the history of St. Camosun? My son, a logger near Port Alice, found a cabin door with a brass lock and key in it floating in Quatsino Sound. The key had on it "please mail, if found, to St. Camosun."—E.L.

A. St. Camosun operated for many years in the B.C. coast service and was sold in 1915 to Greek interests for trade in the Near East. Built in Ayr, Scotland in 1913, she was first used in the Orkney Islands service. Launched as the Favourite, her name was later changed to St. Margaret. About 1925 she was purchased by Canadian National Steamships and her name changed to the Prince Charles. The ship was then sold to Union Steamships and her name changed to Camosun.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to "The Times," addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to set a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to dealer.

Second Look At Bridge Rebuilding

Saanich finance committee is taking another look at plans for the widening of Gorge Bridge scheduled for reconstruction this year.

Council approved the project earlier this year to ease the flow of inter-municipal traffic.

Committee chairman George Austin said today it might be necessary to modify the original reconstruction plan because costs are much higher than estimated.

OVER $20,000

"Council set aside a budget of $10,000 for its reconstruction," he said, "but we have since found out that the project will cost over $20,000 as planned."

Mr. Austin said the project would be discussed at a finance committee meeting to be held next week.

Meanwhile, Saanich in the near future plans to go ahead with its plan to install street lights along the newly constructed portion of Quadra from the city boundary at Tolmie to Stoba.

Starting Pistol Stolen From Car

Guns and ammunition with a total value of more than $165 were reported to police as stolen from separate areas Tuesday.

Bob Hutchison, 2118 Allenby, said while his car was parked in a lot at the foot of Fort, someone took a .32 calibre starting pistol and a part box of blank ammunition from the glove compartment.

The RCMP said a person took a $15.22 level action rifle, a .30-30 Winchester valued at $60, an $80 16-gauge shotgun, 1½ boxes of 12-gauge shells valued at $3.70, a box of 16-gauge shells worth $2.90 and $1 worth of 22 ammunition from the home of Ross Modeste, Koksilah.

Stationery Man On the Move Past Six Lights

Vancouver stationery salesman Allister Morrison may be stationary for a month after losing his driver's licence in city police court today.

Magistrate William Ostler said he would recommend a month's suspension when he fined Morrison $40 for careless driving.

The accused drove through six red traffic lights between Herald and View streets on Douglas at 4 a.m., court was told.

"I was lost at the time and I was looking for my motel. I didn't see the lights," Morrison told the court.

"A person who is as lost as that shouldn't be driving at all," the magistrate observed.

"I earn my living driving, your honor, I'm a stationery salesman."

"No one would ever guess it. You'll have to make some other arrangements," Mr. Ostler told the accused.

MONTE ROBERTS

There is a saying around our house, anything that happens to Roberts, he gets a column out of it.

Roberts stubs his toe, he gets a column out of it. Robert's steps on the cat's tail, he gets a column out of it. Roberts pulls a goof in a news story, he gets a column out of it.

(It is not true he pulls goofs in news stories on purpose so he can get a column. Making a goof in a news story is just doing what comes naturally.)

Even so simple a matter as getting a parking ticket is apt to give Roberts material for a column—in fact, in the matter of parking tickets, he is three for five on the season to date.

Thus it was with something akin to relish that I set out for an appointment with my dentist the other day.

A dental appointment, I thought, should be a sure shot for column material.

Well, I drove to the vicinity of my dentist's office, and after circling the block only five times, I found a parking space.

This parking space was ruled over by a parking meter which provided a maximum of 30 minutes parking per coin.

Thus, as I dropped my contribution to the city's welfare fund into the meter, I hoped that my dentist would be quick, as well as gentle.

But alas, such was not to be the case. My dentist was gentle, as usual, but far from quick.

In fact, due to a little trouble with the patient preceding me, my dentist was almost 30 minutes late in even starting on me.

And it was not until I was chaired, bibbed, and needed that I remembered my automobile, sitting beside a 30-minute meter.

So visions of parking tickets danced in my head, and I was much upset.

Until the thought crossed my mind: imagine the irony of getting a parking ticket as a reward for going to the dentist.

What I column that will make, I thought.

And so it would have, but I didn't get a ticket.

LOUIS VULLIEZ

YMCA Official Appointed To Winnipeg

Louis Vulliez, assistant physical director at Victoria YMCA for the past two years, has left here to take up the appointment of physical director of the St. Vital branch, Winnipeg.

The position he has just left was his first since graduating in Chicago.

In going to Winnipeg, Louis—single—will be returning to his home town.

An announcement will be made as soon as a replacement is named, a YMCA spokesman said today.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Richard Leslie Lampman, no fixed address, pleaded guilty in city police court today to two charges of obtaining cash and goods by false pretences with worthless cheques.

He pleaded not guilty to a third charge of using a worthless cheque to get goods of more than $50 value and was remanded to Aug. 11 for trial on this, and to Aug. 12 for probation report and sentence on the others.

Police say Lampman got $10 cash from King Television and Radio Ltd., 1672 Douglas, by presenting a worthless cheque, and a $24.95 battery from Victoria Super Service Station, 1400 Blanshard, by the same means.

The third charge concerns a deal allegedly made with Midtown Auto Sales Ltd., 837 Yates. All occurred in June.

Cafe worker Jean Murch, 26, of 1780 Egerton, was treated for scalds to both forearms after a coffee-making urn flooded at 10:15 a.m. Tuesday.

Police ambulance took the woman to St. Joseph's Hospital from Poodle Dog Cafe. She was not admitted.

Victoria High School musician Bruce Dunn, 4080 Braefoot, has won a $75 scholarship while attending the summer school of music at University of B.C., it was announced today.

A member of Victoria High School band, Greater Victoria Schools Orchestra and a student member of the Victoria Symphony Orchestra, the Grade 11 student plays the French horn.

Also among 42 bursary winners at the music school are Victorians Robert Jones and Renee Poisson.

Annual garden party of Victoria Chapter Multiple Sclerosis Society will be held Saturday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Morgan, 729 Pemberton Road.

In addition to Multiple Sclerosis patients, all handicapped persons in the Greater Victoria area are invited to attend.

Beginning at 2:30 p.m., the party will feature the RCN band plus the accordion band of Jerry Inglis.

In city police court Tuesday: Vergil H. Brawner, 990 Tulip, previously fined for careless driving, restricted to business driving only for three months.

In Sooke juvenile court, Tuesday: A 17-year-old boy, $10 for speeding over 50.

A police traffic department's detour sign was ruled inadequate according to bylaw provisions and a charge of disobeying the sign was dismissed in city police court today.

Alice M. Dixon, 2655 Belmont, pleaded not guilty to driving past a sign erected at Hillside and Grosvenor where fire hose was laid across the pavement.

The sign read "detour" and pointed off Hillside to Grosvenor for west-bound traffic. Nearby was a motorcycle policeman, who stopped the accused 70-80 feet past the sign.

According to the charge, the woman drove past a sign reading "detour, police," for which the bylaw provides.

Aside from this, however, Magistrate William Ostler doubted validity of the bylaw in view of Motor Vehicle Act provisions.

Three-year-old Diana Slater, of Saturna Island, is in good condition with head cuts at Jubilee Hospital today after tumbling from a moving car Tuesday on West Saanich Road.

She was a passenger in a car driven by Mrs. Lloyd Ritter, Alberni, who was on her way to the Saturna ferry at Swartz Bay.

Diana was the second small child in a week to tumble from a car.

In city police court Tuesday: Vergil H. Brawner, 990 Tulip, previously fined for careless driving, restricted to business driving only for three months.

In Sooke juvenile court, Tuesday: A 17-year-old boy, $10 for speeding over 50.

OLD WEST SIDE SADDLE TURNS UP 'For Respectable Cowgirls'

BY JOHN MIKA

A rare western side saddle—made for "respectable cowgirls" of the old West—is up for sale here but may wind up in a prairie museum.

"It definitely is rare," said saddlery shop owner Bob Shanks today.

"There are, comparatively, lots of English style side saddles around here but I've only seen a western type once before, in Spokane, and many persons I've told about it didn't believe me."

60 YEARS OLD

The saddle weighs about 30 pounds and is about 60 years old. It is in good shape despite the fact that it has been gathering dust for some 30 years.

It was made for a young prairie school teacher who rode from her lodgings to a rural school each day. Maker was the Walker and Wegener firm of San Francisco, which still is in business today.

It has the customary deep western saddle seat with two odd-shaped hooks in place of the horn. The left leg goes under one and the right leg goes over the other. A single stirrup is fixed to the left side and a leather-covered handle, for assistance in mounting and dismounting, is fixed to the right side along with a built-in purse.

HAD OFFER

A traditional basket-weave pattern decorates the leatherwork.

Mr. Shanks said he already has had an offer for the unusual saddle but has written to the University of Saskatchewan in case one of the prairie museums of pioneer life may wish to purchase it.

KATANGA HOSTILE

UN Troops
Threatened

ELISABETHVILLE, The Congo (AP)—Katanga's Premier Moise Tshombe said today his government would use force to oppose the entry into his rich mining province of United Nations troops, scheduled to begin Saturday.

"They will have to fight their way in," Tshombe told newspaper men after hearing a broadcast of UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld's announcement that UN forces would take over from Belgian troops keeping order in the rich mining province in the southeast Congo.

Tshombe said his government has ordered mobilization of all able-bodied men in the province. He said he has support of tribal chiefs in the decision to oppose entry of UN troops.

In Leopoldville, a UN spokesman declared the troops will enter Katanga regardless of the provincial regime's stand.

"Katanga troops will not fire first, and we do not intend any aggression," said Tshombe, whose government has declared Katanga's independence of Premier Patrice Lumumba's central Congo government.

"But if UN troops try to land here, that will be an act of aggression and we will oppose it."

The premier said he had not been officially informed of the decision to send UN troops to Katanga, announced in Leopoldville Tuesday night by

WE'LL FIGHT TO FINISH'

TUNIS, Tunisia (UPI)—Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba flew into Tunisia today and announced "we will fight to the last drop of our blood" to preserve the territorial integrity of his country.

Lumumba made the statement on his arrival from London, en route back to the Congo from the United States.

He repeated attacks on Belgium, accusing it of "barbaric aggression," and demanded "immediate withdrawal of Belgian troops from the Congo."

Hammarskjöld after the Belgian government agreed to pull its troops in Katanga back to their base camp. Tshombe said he also had no notification from the Belgians of their change of heart.

However, Tshombe said he would welcome the arrival of UN undersecretary Ralph J. Bunche, being sent by Hammarskjöld to Elisabethville Friday to arrange the entry of the UN troops. The premier said he wanted to discuss his government's position with Bunche.

'Would Have to Kill Every Soldier'

In Paris, Finance Minister Jean Kihwe, who is heading a delegation, to gain support for Katanga's independence, asserted Tuesday that if UN troops entered the seceded province it would be "a declaration of war and the UN troops would have to kill every soldier in Katanga."

The UN announcement, stunned the white population of Elisabethville, which had returned to normal pursuits under the protection of the Belgian troops. But despite earlier talk of a mass flight when UN troops were ordered in, there was no sign today of any exodus.

"It seems most of them will wait to see what happens when UN troops arrive," a Belgian official said.

It seemed possible the whites might stay if the UN sent white troops to Katanga. But the arrival of non-white troops would cause great consternation.

Mass departure of the 15,000 Belgian civilians in Katanga would bring a quick shutdown of the province's copper and uranium mines, the Congo's economic mainstay, and would bring Katanga to the state of economic paralysis now afflicting the rest of the country.

In Brussels, Belgian Foreign Minister Pierre Wigny said Belgium would take "no sides" in the dispute over Katanga.

The problem must be settled by the Congolese themselves, he said in a country-wide radio hookup. "Belgium refuses to interfere with internal matters."

Should Be in Control by Next Week

Hammarskjöld predicted that by the beginning of next week, or about two weeks after the security council's second call for Belgian withdrawal, UN troops would be "in control of the security of the whole territory of the Congo."

He reported that the UN now has more than 11,000 troops in the Congo, deployed throughout the vast territory with the exception of Katanga.

"All Belgian troops have been withdrawn from all regions of the territory where troops of the United Nations now are stationed," he said.

A difference of opinion was reported on the racial makeup of the force to be sent to Katanga. Congolese Justice Minister Remey Mwamba said the UN command wanted to send in white troops—presumably the Irish battalion on duty in Kivu province. Mwamba indicated his government wants Negro troops.

Hammarskjöld postponed his departure for South Africa a second time. He had been

QUITS AFTER MONTH

DID TONY SCRAP
WITH THE BUTLER?

LONDON (Reuters)—Princess Margaret's butler has left after only a month in her service. There were hints today that he had a row with Anthony Armstrong-Jones, the princess's husband.

The butler, silver-haired Thomas Cronin, moved out of Kensington Palace, Margaret's London home, Tuesday. Newspapers and observers of royal society immediately started guessing about the reason for his departure but no one was saying anything, least of all Cronin himself.

Asked if he had a row with Armstrong-Jones, Cronin said: "I must say 'no comment.' You do understand my position."

Cronin appeared stunned that reporters had heard of his departure and tracked him down in his room at Nottingham Hill, a district near Kensington Palace.

"It is quite unfortunate that my move should be known," he said. "I would much prefer, and I am sure the palace likewise, that this should pass quietly. Whatever, if anything, the palace says, I am sure it will be accurate. Only in extreme circumstances would I contradict it."

Premier W. A. C. Bennett had the stage set today to put into motion the machinery for British Columbia's 1960 election.

The Premier is in his hometown of Kelowna in the Okanagan for a Social Credit anniversary celebration and a garden party and today he said: "I will have an important announcement to make tonight."

Amongst politicians and newspapermen there was no doubt what the Premier had in mind—an announcement of his intention to ask for renewal of the mandate to run the province which he first received from the voters in 1952.

The date—which Mr. Bennett may withhold—is expected to be on or near Sept. 19.

The lone dissenter in the election atmosphere here which is pervading the capital today is Opposition leader Robert Strachan.

"I don't think he will, and I don't think he should announce the date tonight," said the CCF leader.

"SO ARROGANT"
"I can't believe that any premier of this province would be so arrogant as to make the announcement at a political meeting."

The premier will be nominated tonight for his South Okanagan constituency of which Kelowna is the "capital."

This afternoon he and Mrs. Bennett are hosting a giant garden party at their Kelowna home.

Mrs. Bennett told the Times she expected as many as 1,000 guests.

"I haven't got it," she answered when quizzed about the election date.

"I am the last person to know. That's the way I want it, too. Then I don't have to tell any fibs."

With the premier in Kelowna are three of his cabinet "old guard"—Attorney-General Robert Bonner, Highways Minister Phil Gagliardi and Works Minister W. N. Chant.

Others are expected tonight. Only two cabinet ministers were in Victoria—Forests Minister Williston and Recreation Minister Westwood.

Adding fuel to the election fire today was disclosure of a "secret" cabinet meeting here Monday.

Only four members were present.

One of them had told the Times there was no meeting. But a routine signed order-in-council appeared out of that meeting today.

Another order about the election could be in someone's pocket.

Two top Socialists nominated Tuesday night were Labor

FLEES CUBA IN 17-FOOT BOAT TO FLORIDA

Castro Aide Asks Asylum

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI)—

Raul Chibas, Cuba's railroad commissioner and ex-treasurer of the Fidel Castro revolution, landed at Key West late Tuesday and asked for political asylum.

Chibas, a middle-aged former military academy professor, arrived with his wife in a 17-foot boat. He was taken into custody by U.S. immigration authorities.

No immediate reason was given for Chibas' split from the Castro regime, but associates in Miami said he had been growing discontented with the Cuban government.

Maj. Pedro Diaz Lanz, former Cuban air force chief, said when he talked to Chibas last summer "he knew Fidel was a Communist then, but he said he would stick around for awhile."

Chibas fled Cuba during the reign of Fulgencia Batista and joined Raul Castro in raising funds for the revolution here and in New York.

After Castro's forces began fighting in the Sierra Maestras, Diaz Lanz flew here and took Chibas back to join Castro.

Associates said Castro offered Chibas the prime minister's job after the revolution but he turned it down for the railroad post.

HUMIDITY RISES

Fire Threat
Easing Off

Lightning in the Kamloops district today is the major forest fire threat, but the hazard is easing in other parts of the province.

In the Nelson district, rain fell for the second day Tuesday, reducing the hazard to "moderate," the forest service said.

The hazard remains "high to extreme" in the Vancouver Island and coastal mainland district, but overcast skies and high relative humidity have eased the general situation. Only three small new fires were reported overnight.

21 FIRES

There are 21 fires burning in the district.

In the last three days lightning is blamed for 92 Kamloops district blazes.

There were 40 new ones overnight.

The three big ones, all over 10,000 acres, at Lac le Jeune, Allan Creek and Spius Creek, are all moderately under control, says the forest service.

About 470 fires were burning in B.C. forests Tuesday. They were being battled by upwards of 4,500 men, 246 bulldozers and 27 aircraft at a cost of $120,000 a day—not including the loss of millions of dollars worth of fir, spruce, white and jack pine and cedar.
